REAL ESTATE RECORDS

Whenever the letters Q. C., C. a. G. and B. & C. occur, preceded by the name of the grantee, they mean as follows:

1st.—Q. C. is an abbreviation for Quit Cliam deed, i. e., a deed wherein all the right, title and interest of the grantor is conveyed, omitting all covenants and warranty.

2d.—C. a. G. means a deed containing Covenant against Grantor only, in which he covenants that he hath not done any act whereby the estate conveyed may be impeached, charged or encumbered.

3d.—B. & S. is an abbreviation for Bargain and Sale deed, wherein, although the seller makes no expressed consideration, and thus impliedly claims to be the owner of it. The street and avenue numbers given in these lists are, in all cases, taken from the insurance maps when they are not mentioned in the deeds. The numbers, it will occasionally be found, do not correspond with the existingg ones, owing to there having been no official designation made of them by the Department of Public Works.

4th.—The first date is the date the deed was drawn. The second date is the date of filing same. When both dates are the same, only one is given.

5th.—The figures in each conveyance, thus, 2:482—10, denote that the property mentioned is in section 2, block 482, lot 10.

6th.—It should also be noted in section and block numbers that the instrument as filed is strictly followed.

7th.—A $20,000—$30,000 indicates the assessed value of the property, the first figures being for the lot only, and the second figures representing both lot and building. Letter P before second figure indicates that the property is assessed as in course of construction.

MORTGAGES

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given and the amount. The general dates used as headlines are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.

The first date is the date the mortgage was drawn, the second the date of filing; when both dates are the same, only one is given.

Subscribers will find mortgages in this list with the wrong block number attached. The block number we give is taken from the instrument as filed.

Mortgages against Bronx property will be found altogether at the foot of this list.

Filing Public Papers.

THE COURSE A DOCUMENT TAKES WHEN PASSING THROUGH THE REGISTER'S OFFICE.

By Edwin P. Clark.

ALL instruments are indexed in a block index, of which there are separate sets for conveyances and mortgages. In this index separate pages are provided for each block, and on these pages are entered only those documents relating to the particular block. All instruments recorded prior to January 1, 1895, have been reindexed in books prepared on the block index system. It thus becomes an easy matter to investigate the record, for all instruments relating to other blocks are eliminated from consideration at once by the index itself, and all the papers, no matter by whom made, are entered in one set of pages, and not scattered through several separate alphabetical indexes. This simplifies the matter very much, although it is somewhat of a question as to whether the block index may not become as bulky and cumbersome in future years as the name indexes were. The general name indexes are also kept up, as they still serve a very useful purpose, whenever wholesale investigations as to all the property owned or conveyed or mortgaged by a single individual need to be made.

The block index system is really a compromise between the old alphabetical index and a scientific locality index in which only those documents relating to each individual piece of land should be indexed against that land, and everything else not relating to it eliminated from consideration, as is done in the German Grundbuch system, founded on their cadastral surveys, which is greatly superior to our block index; but, on account of the technical skill and careful methods required for its successful maintenance, it is probably impracticable to operate such a system in this country, under our present political methods of procuring our clerical public servants.

Let us now follow a paper through the Register's office. It is taken to the window in the business office and handed to a clerk, who scrutinizes the acknowledgment certificates to be certain that they conform to the legal requirements; he also calculates the recording fee and marks it on the back. It then passes to a clerk who stamps on it the year, month, day, hour and minute of recording, by means of a time clock stamp, and hands it in to the cashier who receives the recording fee, and, if it is a mortgage, the recording tax, and passes it on to a clerk who makes the proper bookkeeping entries on loose sheets.

E. THIELE, Sole Agent,
99 John St., New York.

The next step, as regards mortgages, is the stamping of the mortgage tax receipt on the paper. It then goes to the tickler clerks, who enter the names of the parties and the section and block in the tickler, which is a temporary index of grantors and mortgagors, arranged alphabetically, and entered chronoligically, of which there are separate sets for deeds and mortgages, a separate book for each section, together with one for miscellaneous deeds, and a separate series for each month, so that the total set for a year includes 612 books. It is necessary to use these temporary ticklers in making searches for recent periods, until the papers have been copied into the libers, and properly entered in the permanent block indexes.

From the tickler clerks it passes into the hands of the press clerks, regularly stationed in the building, who make the necessary notes for publication in the Record and Guide and other journals. Next the mortgages go to the State mortgage tax clerks, who prepare certain statements required by the State authorities. All the papers then pass into the hands of the clerks of the title companies, who make brief abstracted copies of them for use in keeping the companies' indexes up to date. They then pass into the custody of the abstract department of the Register's office, where every instrument is carefully considered by the abstract clerks, who make a brief digest of it for the purpose of indexing in the block index, and ascertaining the correctness of the section and block with which it is marked. This memorandum is made in duplicate, and it is somewhat of a mystery what the extra duplicate is for.

The papers remain for some time in cases in the abstract department, until they are handed over to the copyists, who proceed to copy each instrument in full into the permanent liber of record; after which it is compared with the record for correction of errors, stamped with the liber and page where recorded, and certified to by the Register as duly recorded, and returned to the person leaving it for record.

By a ridiculous provision of the statute, every document which affects land in more than one section must be copied as many times as there are sections which it affects, each section having its own series of libers. This results in a scandalous waste of time and public money, for there are many such cases, and some in which the same papers, and these, of course, the voluminous ones, have been copied as many as six or eight times, when, with a little management, once would be amply sufficient.

These later steps of copying, comparing, stamping and returning are frequently several months behind the date of record, which, officially, is the day on which the paper was originally left at the office, and, of late, on account of the great increase of activity in real estate, the limited accommodations in the office, and the difficulties which the Register has experienced, due to civil service regulations and political impediments, in adequately increasing his force of copyists, the final return of papers has been a year and a half behind the record date, a situation unknown before, but which is slowly being improved upon, at the present time the Register [Kings County] being about nine months behind in his work. The present Register has extensively introduced typewriting machines, which produce very excellent libers of record, so far as legibility is concerned, being a great improvement over pen copies, some of which, in recent years, have been most execrable.

In the Register's office there are also filed and recorded all satisfactions of mortgages. The statute requires that the mortgages themselves shall be left with the Register. This is a foolish provision, for room has to be provided to store them, and we shall have to build a new building, eventually, to store old mortgages. It would be just as effective to have the mortgage produced before the Register, and, after identification, so mutilated by him, by tearing out the signature, or otherwise, as to render it plainly void, as is done in some States, notably New Jersey.

Chattel mortgages and conditional bills of sale are also recorded by filing with the Register, who files them in cases, and keeps separate indexes of them. They affect personal property only, as their names indicate, but they may be of importance to those persons dealing with real estate, for the personal property may consist of furnaces, gas fixtures or other articles very necessary to the actual use of a building for the purpose for what it was intended. The lien of chattel mortgages expires by legal limitation in one year.

Also all maps relating to real estate subdivisions, showing farms cut up into lots, and other information of a similar character important to the questions of title and ownership are filed with the Register and properly indexed for ready reference.

ROUTINE IN COUNTY CLERK'S OFFICE.

We come next to the County Clerk's office. The County Clerk is the custodian of all records of the Supreme and County Courts, and in his office are filed all documents relating to lawsuits. From the real estate standpoint, a very important class of these is Lis Pendens, or Notice of the Pendency of Action; in other words, a notification to the general public that a lawsuit has been commenced that affects the title to a piece of land described in the notice, and which, although not required in all cases, is now generally filed at the commencement of all suits such as foreclosures, partitions, etc. This is constructive notice to all the world, and any person dealing with the land, after the filing of this notice, does so at his peril, for he is quite likely to be utterly ignored in the progress of the suit, and his rights entirely destroyed by the judgment rendered at its termination.

There are also filed with the County Clerk all notices of MECHANICS' LIENS, which are claims by workmen or persons furnishing materials for building purposes, and which attach to the land, and must be disposed of before anybody can safely deal with it. This can be done by paying the money directly to the claimant, and securing a satisfaction piece of the lien, or by either depositing the money with the County Clerk, or furnishing him with a bond to pay the money; the final disposition of the money in either case to await the final determination of the validity of the claim. They expire by limitation in one year unless they are renewed, or suit has been begun to foreclose them.

There are several other items of public record which are also filed with the County Clerk, such as Sheriff's certificates of sales on execution made at the instance of judgment creditors, appointments of receivers of judgment debtors in supplementary proceedings, notices of foreclosure of mortgages by advertisement, general and insolvent assignments of bankrupts, and bonds of various kinds which must be taken notice of, all of which, however, are somewhat infrequent, and do not call for extended description.

JUDGMENTS.

In these lists of Judgments the names alphabetically arranged and which are first on each line, are those of the judgment debtor. The letter (D) means judgment for deficiency. (*) means not summoned. (†) signifies that the first name is fictitious, real name being unknown. Judgments entered during the week and satisfied before day of publication, do not appear in this column, but in list of Satisfied Judgments.

The Judgments filed against corporations, etc., will be found at the end of the list.

WHILE the stock market this week cannot exactly be characterized as weak it has been decidedly irregular and unsatisfactory alike to both bulls and bears. It may best be described as professional, which means that those who make the quotations are alike indifferent as to whether stocks go up or down so long as their commitments are on the short or long side and "Scalping" profits are to be made. This condition necessarily causes one day's closing to be buoyant, with many stocks at the highest prices, only to be succeeded the next day by exasperating irregularity, dulness and trading of the narrowest character. Under these circumstances, the great public about which we hear so much, is not participating in the perennial Wall Street game, and it would not appear that those who control the pastime are, in the light of the recent disastrous slump, using the most alluring means to get more players from the great bulk of citizens who are more or less interested in speculation. The fear as to what Mr. Harriman may say in connection with the Union Pacific Railroad before the Interstate Commerce Commission is no longer an important factor in the situation, although manipulators are always ready to take advantage of the outcome to suit their own purposes. Stocks for investment purchases are not high at present prices, but the market is still not inviting for speculators on margin. As indicated in this column last week there is so far little or no foundation for a crop scare. This fact is reflected in the steady price of grain. Certainly there is nothing disquieting in the reports of railroad earnings or business generally. On the highest authority, it is said of the United States Steel Corporation, that its orders for the week exceeded those for the previous week by 10,000 tons and that the corporation has in hand inquiries for rails for 1908 delivery to the amount of 250,000 tons. Moreover it is stated that even if there should be retrenchment on the part of the railways the iron and steel industry is likely to make as good a showing in 1907 as in 1906, and that even if the dividend is not increased on the common, it will not be passed in the future. The quarterly dividend at the rate of eight per cent. per annum was declared on Thursday by the Amalgamated Copper Company. The earnings of this corporation are very large. Money has ruled easy both for time and call loans though the latter touched 3 per cent.

THE "Times" recently contained interviews with two of the most successful real estate operators who have of late years been doing business in New York, Mr. Robert E. Dowling of the City Investing Company and Mr. Felix Isman. Mr. Dowling's opinion of real estate in Manhattan was summed up in the following sentence: "I have known many real estate experts during the last twenty years, and the greatest of these was a man who never sold any real estate." Mr. Isman's opinion was not expressed as definitely as this, but it was substantially to the same effect. He pointed out that the McAlpin estate had been advised again and again to sell its block front on Broadway between Thirty-third and Thirty-fourth Streets, but that its owner had showed his good sense by holding on and watching a steady and enormous increase in the value of this property. The idea is, of course, that the operator, who buys Manhattan real estate and holds it for a comparatively long period, is likely to make much, if not more, money than the operator who is continually turning over his capital and accepting small profits. Within certain limitations this idea is undoubtedly correct. No doubt it rarely pays to hold unimproved property on the outskirts of a large city for a long term of years, unless the price at which it is originally bought is very low. As soon as the price of such property reaches a certain level, its carrying charges are likely to eat up the further increase in value. The speculator who makes money in unimproved property within the limits of New York City is the man who buys just before the sudden increases in value which are constantly taking place and takes his profit as quickly as he can. The same statement is substantially true of tenement-house property, which has no early prospect of becoming anything else. A great deal of money has been made since 1903 by speculations in tenement houses, but it has been made chiefly by quick turns. While in the long run tenement houses properly managed should yield good incomes, the conditions that have recently made them profitable speculative purchases are not likely to return for a good many years. On the other hand it is unquestionably true that with improved property that has a good business future the man who holds on tenaciously is the man who makes the most money. The extremely successful operators of recent years have been those who could afford to buy old buildings in the heart of the best business neighborhoods, and then wait for the inevitable harvest, and the same statement will continue true during the next ten years. The great increases in value throughout that period will take place in the area bounded by Twenty-third and Fifty-ninth Streets, Lexington and Eighth Avenues; and the longer a man holds on to property in that district the better off will he be.

SENATOR SAXE'S bill, which will prevent the Rapid Transit Commissioners from letting the contracts for the Lexington and Seventh Avenue subways, should, if necessary, be vigorously opposed by the real estate interests of this city. The Real Estate Board of Brokers should use all of its influence against the bill, if for no other reason than because its passage will largely diminish the number of real estate transactions that can be consummated during the next twelve months. The only argument used on behalf of the bill is that, unless it is passed, the new local Public Utility Commissioners will have their hands tied in respect to subway extensions for the next two years. But why not? No valid objections can be urged against the proposed Lexington and Seventh Avenue subways as desirable additions to the transit system of the metropolis; and there is not the slightest reason to believe that the new commissioners can improve in any essential respect upon this part of the work of the present Board. If the careful and exhaustive plans of the existing commission are thrown away, it will mean simply that the new Board after long deliberation will reach what will be for all practical purposes a similar scheme. In the meantime, however, rapid transit extensions, of which Manhattan and the Bronx are very much in need, will be postponed for as much as a year and a half. Moreover, it is quite possible that the delay will be even longer. The weak aspect of Gov. Hughes' new commission concerns its relations to the local authorities of the city. His commission will be a State body, on which the local authorities will not be represented, as they are on the present Rapid Transit Board, yet which will depend for the effectiveness of its construction work upon the approval of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment. What are the prospects that the plans of the State Commissioners will be accepted by the Governing Board of New York City? The members of that Board resent the proposed action of the Governor and the Legislature in forcing upon them a State Commission, over which they have no control, and which is not responsible primarily to the people of New York. They will scrutinize the work of the State Commissioners whenever it is within their power to do so, not only with care, but in a distinctly hostile frame of mind. It is entirely possible, consequently, that the two Boards may not be able to reach an agreement over any revised plans for subway extensions, and that all new construction will be held up for a long time during the course of the dispute. It is very much better, consequently, that in the beginning the new State Board should not have any subways to plan, and that the people of New York should not be obliged to face an indefinite delay in the construction of additional means of rapid transit. The State Commissioners will have their hands sufficiently full in performing their other numerous complicated duties, and can very well afford to be relieved for the time being of what will in the end prove to be the most arduous and difficult of their tasks.

THE GREAT DIFFICULTY connected with the introduction of any system of title registration into this county is undoubtedly the practical difficulty of applying to the conditions of real estate transfer as they exist in New York. If the County Register was converted into a county court for the certification of titles, one of two results would happen. Either property-owners would be extremely loth to register their titles, as they have been in Boston and Chicago, in which case the institution would be of no great benefit, or else the new court would be swamped by applications from property-owners to have their titles examined and registered, in which case the institution would work so slowly that its use would be largely abandoned. Thus let us suppose that two-thirds of the purchasers of real estate in New York took their titles to the county court for examination and registration. It would be manifestly impossible for the Register to handle the business thrust upon him. His available means for making searches would be inferior to those of the title companies, both as regards his staff and his plant, and he would fall so much in arrears with his work that men who had parcels of real estate under contract would be obliged to take refuge in the offices of the title companies. It may be predicted, consequently, with some confidence that, in case a system of title-registration were introduced into New York, Kings and Queens counties, its use would not grow any faster than it has in Boston and Chicago. On the other hand, the conditions under which titles are searched are undoubtedly a great and unnecessary burden upon the property-owners of New York City. The title companies have both expedited and cheapened the searching of titles, and the enormous increase in real estate trading could hardly have taken place without the facilities which these companies have placed at the disposal of the public. On the other hand, the expenses which the companies incur in the searching of titles, which amounts, so it is claimed, to from 70 to 90 per cent. of their fees, these expenses are largely caused by the cost of duplicating and indexing the county records. It seems a pity that the business of transferring real estate in New York should be obliged to carry the cost of making all these copies of official records, and in the course of time something will probably be done to save these expenses. One means would be for the title companies themselves to combine, make only one transcript of the records, and reduce their fees so as to bar further competition.

The Right Note.

To the Editor of the Record and Guide:

The lofty sentiments expressed by the various speakers at the dinner of the Real Estate Classes of the Y. M. C. A. last Tuesday night struck the right note. A broker or agent that does not deal with his client and customer honestly and honorably commits an act against the whole real estate profession, and destroys the confidence of the public. As the broker often acts in a fiduciary capacity, in whom a client places implicit confidence in the conduct of his affairs, it would be criminal to betray that trust. With these responsibilities no real estate man should so conduct himself in his relations with his clients or customers as to cast aspersion upon the profession. We should preserve our integrity for the sake of the profession, its honor and its dignity. Yours very truly,

JULIUS GOLDBURG.

Exorbitant Plumbing Bills.

THE Realty League, at No. 95 William st, an organization which has existed for several years past, and consists of property owners who are banded together for mutual protection, at a meeting of its officers on the afternoon of Friday, the 12th of April, had under consideration the action that should be taken against the Department of Water Supply, Gas and Electricity in connection with the installation of water meters.

Different members of the League had called the attention of its officers to exorbitant charges by the city plumbers for the installation of water meters by the water department, where the owner had failed to install the meter himself on notice; it appeared, in several cases, that the owner did not personally know anything about the notice served requiring the installation of the meter because of its service on a janitor or some employee on the premises, who failed to notify the owner, and, in some cases, where buildings had been leased, the janitor was the employee of the lessee and therefore had no relations with the owner, and in default of compliance with the notice, the department proceeded to install the meters.

Among the officers of the League are many experienced real estate owners, managers of real property, architects and others who are thoroughly familiar with the amount of time, labor and material that should properly and necessarily be used on some of the installations to which attention has been called, and in each instance they pronounced the bills of the city plumbers as grossly exorbitant, in some cases to the amount of 75 per cent. beyond what they should have been.

When this work is done the department places a lien against the premises for the work of the city plumbers, but the Deputy Commissioner has written to the League that, for the past month, his department has been sending out notices, in advance, of the amount charged by the city plumber, and allowing ten days' time for protest before certifying the bill of the city plumber for payment. In each instance it has been called to the attention of the League that the work that was done by the city plumbers had been done before the owner of the property had any actual knowledge that it had even been undertaken.

The Realty League intends, on behalf of its members, to contest these exorbitant bills and also to demand an investigation into the whole matter to see whether owners of real property can be protected against the new form of "graft." The officers of the Realty League are: Hon. Alfred R. Conkling, president; Charles Buek, vice-president; A. H. Mathews, treasurer; Willard H. Hodgson, secretary, and Carlisle Norwood, counsel.

Tenement Law Amendments.

ESSENTIAL POINTS OF BILL NOW PENDING—THE LAW STRENGTHENED IN SOME RESPECTS.

A bill introduced in Senate and Assembly this week to amend generally (Chapter 334 of the Laws of 1901) the law in relation to tenement houses in cities of the first class, was prepared by Tenement House Commissioner Edmond J. Butler in conference with his deputies and heads of departments. The amendments represent his experience of two years in administering the law. They seem somewhat voluminous, but in reality few changes in the substance of the law are made. The Commissioner says the main purpose of the bill has been to embody in the statute the various rulings and interpretations of the law that have been in vogue in the Tenement House Department since its inception. While it is not perhaps absolutely necessary to have all these details become part of the act itself, yet it has seemed to him that it will save trouble and dispute if what is now departmental practice, a practice which has grown out of six years' interpretation of the law, could be embodied in the statute. In addition several substantial changes are made in the law itself. In a number of instances as the result of experience it has seemed best to the Commissioner to strengthen the law in some respects. In several cases where the law has been found to work undue hardship unnecessarily, it has seemed wise to make changes which would remove any unnecessary hardship.

New Definitions.—(The reader who has a copy of the Tenement House Law before him will better understand these points from the bill.)

Section 2. (3) If a court extends from the street to the yard it is a "street-to-yard court."

(7) A basement is a story "partly" below the level of the curb, "the ceiling of which is less than four feet six inches above the curb level."

"A wooden building is one the exterior walls of which, or a portion thereof, are constructed of wood. A building sheathed with boards and partly or entirely covered with brickwork shall be deemed a wooden building. Wood frames covered with metal shall be deemed wooden buildings."

(14) The term "window" used in this act means unless otherwise specified, a pulley-hung window sliding vertically, both halves made to fully open. Casement or hinged windows, or pivoted, sash windows, may be used only in the front of a tenement house containing a power passenger elevator, or where such windows are supplementary to those required by law.

(1) Location and access.—[The] "All" fire-escapes or "fireproof outside stairways" shall open directly from at least one room "or private hall" in each apartment at each story above the ground level [floor] other than a bathroom or water closet compartment, and shall not include the window of a stair hall, and [no] "such room or private hall shall be an integral part of said apartment and accessible to every room thereof without passing through a public hall. No fire-escape shall be placed in a court except where required by law for apartments not having a room either on the street or yard, as provided in section fifty-seven of this act. Fire-escapes may project into the public highway to a distance not greater than 4 ft. beyond the building line, "or into a court or yard to a distance not greater than 4 ft. from the wall of the building. Fire-escapes may be located in an unenclosed recess in the front of a tenement house hereafter erected, provided that such recess is used solely for fire-escape purposes and does not exceed 5 ft. in depth from the extreme front wall of the building nor 12 ft. in length, and is not roofed over nor enclosed at the front or top. Such fire-escapes shall be continued from the top story to the roof by stairways constructed as in this section provided."

Section 30. "All fire-escapes in non-fireproof tenement houses shall open directly from at least one room or private hall in each apartment at each story above the ground level. . . . Section 28. Wooden tenement houses.—No wooden building not [now] used as a tenement house, "on April tenth, nineteen hundred and one," shall hereafter be altered or converted into one. In 3-sty frame tenements the walls of light, vent and dumbwaiter shafts shall be brick-filled.

Section 43 is entirely new, and refers to heating furnaces, boilers and cold storage appliances. It provides that any partition or construction within 4 ft. of a boiler or heater shall be covered with metal. Ceilings within 12 in. must be shielded with metal. No heating or power apparatus operated by fuel other than electricity shall rest upon a wooden floor. "No cold storage or refrigerating plant involving the use of compressed gases or vapors, and no appliances, pipes, or receptacles containing such gases or vapors, shall be permitted in any tenement house, unless the portion of said building in which such appliances, pipes or receptacles are located, shall be entirely separated from all other parts of the tenement house, and completely enclosed by fireproof walls and ceilings." No part of any room in a tenement house hereafter erected shall be enclosed at any time, wholly or in part, by a curtain, portiere, fixed or movable partition or other contrivance or device, unless such part of the room so enclosed shall contain a window as required by sections sixty-seven and sixty-eight of this act, and a floor area of not less than seventy square feet as required by section seventy of this act."

Section 82. "All apparatus, contrivances or devices, gas pipes, gas fixtures, electric wires, conduits, electric fixtures or meters, that are necessary for the lighting of the stairs and public halls, shall be so arranged as to be controlled separately from the lighting arrangements of the apartments of the building."

Section 96. Plumbing.—In every tenement house hereafter erected, "except in a tenement house provided with a power-passenger elevator," all plumbing pipes shall be exposed. [, when so required by the department charged with the enforcement of this act.]

MASS MEETING CALLED.

A mass meeting of all property owners' associations has been called by the House Owners' Association for next Thursday evening at 8 o'clock, in Turn Verein Hall, Lexington av and 85th st, to protest against the pending bill.

What High Rents Are Doing.

At a meeting of the Brooklyn Chapter of American Bank Clerks, a "new" reason was assigned for the peculiar phase of business which various real property industries have entered upon. Rather than a "new" reason, it is more like an old one emphasized. Bankers have an exceptional opportunity of observing the causes that affect the flow of Money. The speaker asserted:

That the increase in rents and the increase in land values produce a concentration of wealth in the hands of the few. He said that the Astor estate on Manhattan Island has 100,000 tenants, and that when William Waldorf Astor, a year ago, ordered his agent to increase his rents 20 per cent., he enforced an economy upon 100,000 consumers of American products, which forced economy caused business to shrink, and a shrinkage in business is all there is to hard times.

The question is often asked what is the market value of real estate, and the answer that naturally comes to one's mind is, what will it sell for? And how much is that? Circumstances alter cases, but a rule used in some localities is that a renting property is worth one hundred times its monthly income. Apparently, then, in order to raise market value it is only necessary to "jack up" rents. But it is obvious that an element of compulsion enters when values are based on rentals and these are unreasonable; and Randolph on "Eminent Domain" (page 216) says: "The best criterion of market value is a price which would be fixed after a fair negotiation between parties willing but not compelled to treat."

A deduction from this standard of value then is that where rents are unnatural and unreasonable and valuations are based upon them, these valuations are more or less inflated and temporary.

Expectations of Outside Money.

The inability of suburban builders without private means to raise building loans is having an effect on vacant lot values in the farther suburbs. In many cases builders who have plans filed and sites purchased are being held up by the absence of building money. For this reason the Evening Post is doubtful "whether auction sales of suburban lots will be successful this spring, in view of all the vacant property now to be had from those who bought at former sales for investment, and who, because of failure to make the quick turns anticipated, are ready to sell at about cost."

"Should a period of inactivity come in the building business, it will become even more difficult to sell suburban property. Again, the attitude of the city in regard to new subways is placing a damper on investment in vacant lots."

But building conditions extremely unfavorable can only be temporary; they are certain to change when owners' present ideas and prices moderate. Substantial aid to the real estate money market will then come from other parts of the country. Outsiders are willing to loan almost any amount on Manhattan parcels, but they cannot see the value in the prices that are being asked in the suburbs. That they do not, has become a matter of some importance. At least one title company is spending thousands of dollars in advertising for sale in other cities the tax-exempt guaranteed mortgages on New York City real estate.

Suburban Lot Sales Falling Off.

An official of a Manhattan land company, operating in Queens Borough, being questioned as to the cause of the falling off in the sales of suburban lots, said it was chiefly due to the fact that buyers are now learning how to discriminate between fractional parts of an acre and a city lot with modern improvements. In the purchase of the former he affirms that many have not only blinded themselves to the certainty of large future assessments, but by their lack of judgment and the ultimate dissatisfaction which always results from such investments influenced the public against many merited propositions. This fact is undeniable, he argues, and one which cannot be ignored by well meaning land companies. The future lot buyer will demand substantial improvements in the way of streets, sidewalks, water, sewers, and some approved system of lighting, and unless these are offered the so-called developer may as well suspend operations.

THE REALM OF BUILDING

Points on the Material Market.

The cement market continues easy.

Reports from Queens are that all the building material yards are busy.

The heavy demand for sheet zinc has caused an advance in the price of the metal to 10c. per 100 pounds.

Business in tin plates still continues good under a heavy demand for delivery during the second and third quarters at premiums of 10c. per box.

The low prices of brick quoted last week continue, but are easier to obtain, as cargoes are going out faster. This indicates that brick building is stepping a little faster.

Unfavorable weather has had a depressing effect upon the demand for Linseed Oil. Deliveries on contract orders have not been so much in demand, while new business has been light.

Demand for wire nails continues heavy, both in the way of new business and in the volume of specifications coming forward. Manufacturers have been unable to catch up on their old orders, owing to the scarcity of steel and delayed transportation, and their troubles have been added to by the shortage of nail kegs. Cut nails show little change, with new business somewhat behind specifications on old contracts.

Notwithstanding the heavy demand for builders' hardware and the fact that many manufacturers are unable to make prompt deliveries, it would appear that there is some irregularity in prices, and that competition for desirable business is increasingly keen. It is even hinted that the schedules of the larger producers who are supposed to be working in harmony are not strictly maintained. The situation is becoming decidedly interesting.

Great Night for Building Department Employees.

Every one who had the good fortune to attend the ball that the Associated Employees of the Building Bureaus of the five boroughs of the city gave on Tuesday evening, at the Lexington Avenue Opera House, returned a verdict that in this, the third annual entertainment of their friends, they scored their biggest success yet as jovial hosts. The opera house was thronged, and to properly receive the guests the artists of the departments, under the direction of Inspector Orlando C. Flynn, decorated the ballroom in white and green, finished with great clusters of floral stars.

A vaudeville show of exceptional merit put everybody in excellent good humor for the reception and ball. Arthur C. Kerwin, one of the best looking of the younger set of the Manhattan inspectors, led the ornate grand march that opened the revelry, and in this march a decided popular hit was made by Messenger Eddy McEvoy, of Manhattan, who was adorned with a picturesque opera hat worthy of Beau Brummel himself. The chairmen of the various committees were decorated with special badges of enamelled gilt, finished with minature eagles and flags, handsome in design and intended as fob charm souvenirs.

The employees had invited President Ahearn and his associated Borough Presidents, and all of the City Senators and Assemblymen, and the Manhattan boys had as special "honor guests" Superintendent Edward Murphy, his popular aides, Deputy Superintendent Joseph Gordon and Bernard J. Gorman, together with William J. Colihan, the liveliest private secretary the Manhattan Department has had yet, and "Beau" Daniel J. O'Dair, the Chesterfield of the Manhattan Clerical Corps. Former Superintendents Thomas J. Brady, Isaac A. Hopper and John L. Jordan came early and stayed late to enjoy the good time.

The ball by its receipts helped to increase handsomely the Relief Fund of the employees' association, and was well managed by President Thomas J. Linehan, Vice-President Thomas Montague, Secretaries Albert A. Lexutt, and Lewis F. Soich, treasurer; Timothy E. Deegan, Trustees Henry O. Cole, William Golding and Richard Dunne, Jr., and a ball committee representing these Department Divisions: Construction—Messrs. Garvey, Fitzpatrick, Fullam, Montague and Cole. Plumbing—Messrs. Donoghue, Thompson, C. Moore and C. Breen. Clerks—Thomas J. Walsh. Messengers—Lewis F. Soich. Engineers—George M. O'Reilly. Elevators—James J. Wilson. Iron—Richard Dunne, Jr. Richmond and Bronx Departments—Delegates Drinnan, Montgomery and Golding.

BUILDING NOTES

The downtown office of the Record and Guide has been moved to 11 East 24th st, Manhattan.

The business of A. Perlman, worker in wrought iron for elevator inclosures, vestibule doors, etc., has been incorporated and will be continued at the present address, 91 Mangin st.

Contractors building the Blackwell's Island bridge are arranging to erect the falsework on the Long Island side of the bridge which is used in constructing the bridge proper. They are also building a large steam plant which is used in operating the construction machinery. The laying out of the land for the approach to the bridge is also being advanced.

It is getting common to design apartment houses, hotels and office buildings with deep recesses in front, in place of a central court yard. It is an obvious advantage to have the rooms in the middle of the building look out on the street, instead of into an enclosed court yard. They are much pleasanter and better aired in consequence, and command a better price.

New York State Civil Service Commission will hold examinations April 27 of candidates for the following positions which are open to residents and non-residents of the state: Assistant civil engineer, $5 to $6 a day; bridge engineer, $1,500 to $2,100 per year; civil engineering draughtsman, $4 to $5 a day; junior bridge draughtsman, $900 to $1,200 per year; leveler, $4.50 to $5 a day; rodman, $3.50 to $4 a day. Income of Trinity Parish.

(From the Annual Report, 1907.)

Many articles having from time to time appeared in the public prints regarding the fabulous wealth of Trinity Parish, we will state that the annual income of the corporation last year from all sources was less than $775,000, not including collections and contributions in the churches. (These latter are all used for church work within and without the parish.)

Out of this annual income the corporation paid all the expenses of Trinity Church and its eight chapels, including the care and maintenance of buildings and grounds, salaries of the clergy, music, schools and many of the parish charities, also the expenses and care of Trinity Hospital and Trinity Cemetery.

About $40,000 was contributed to other churches and institutions outside of the parish; $127,000 was paid to the city for taxes and water rates, and $135,000 for repairs and insurance premiums on the buildings other than church properties.

The corporation has outstanding loans made to churches outside of its own parish amounting to over $365,000 on which no interest is charged, besides which it has given large amounts of property to other churches as endowments.

There are no liquor saloons on any of the corporation property, excepting in two instances where the lots are on long lease and not under control of the corporation, and in one other case in connection with a first-class restaurant; nor does any gambling or other objectionable house exist on any of its property. MORGAN DIX, Rector.

The greatest absolute sale of lots in history of New York will take place Wednesday, April 24, and Thursday, April 25, beginning 9 a. m., at Exchange Salesroom, 14 Vesey st. Joseph P. Day will offer for sale 1,500 lots of the Ogden Estate. This sale is absolutely without reserve, being a Supreme Court Partition Sale, and opens up a part of the Bronx which for years has been kept intact by the Ogden Estate trustees. Property is situated on a ridge on east side of Harlem River, extending from below High Bridge to beyond Washington Bridge, and from the river east to Shakespeare av, including lots on Plympton, Nelson, Ogden, Merriam, Boscobel, Underhill, Commerce, Sedgwick and Lind aves, the intersecting streets and the river front. There are car lines on Sedgwick and Boscobel avs, and the proposed Lexington and Eighth av subways (to connect with a Jerome av extension) will have stations near the property. The standard size of lot is 25x100. (See advertisement for further particulars.)

The budget for the week shows an improvement both in the character and tone of trading. One of the features of the market was a tendency on the part of investors toward the purchase of avenue properties, which was particularly noticeable in the Bronx. Among the larger transactions the sale of the Ross holdings on Times square was the most important, and, according to reports, the site is likely to be improved by the erection of another new theatre or hotel. Other transactions were for two Broadway business buildings and a large plot of lots across the Harlem. The total number of private sales reported was 158, of which 55 were below 59th st, 61 north, and 42 in the Bronx.

On April 23 John L. Parish, auctioneer, of 149 Broadway, Manhattan, will sell at auction at the Vesey st salesroom, several desirable parcels of realty situated on Washington Heights. The sale includes two desirable corner properties, a block front on Wadsworth av, and other well located offerings in close proximity to the Broadway subway. All the properties are ripe for improvement, and as the terms announced are easy, it is likely that the sale will attract a large attendance. See notice on another page.

The greatest opportunity of the New York realty market is any acreage at $5,000 an acre or under within the limits of Greater New York that can be reached from Manhattan for five cents.—Felix Isman.

"The real estate market for the next few months will, I believe, be strong and steady, without great activity. Rents are good, and there are fewer vacancies than at any time within my recollection."—Robt. E. Dowling.

Samuel E. Jacobs, treasurer of Hudson Realty Co., 135 Broadway, Manhattan, believes that the mortgage situation as affecting large transactions is less satisfactory now than it was a few months ago. This accounts partly for the present sluggishness in trading, he said.

A real estate manager was asked how he was doing. He said: "Wearing out a pair of shoes a month." Odd answer, but think it over. If you think that downtown property to-day is managed by dead ones, spend the day with a downtown agent and maybe you would prefer to lay brick at 70 cents an hour.

A building and permanent loan of $175,000 was negotiated by the M. Morgenthau, Jr., Co. for Lowell Realty Company on plot at southeast corner Riverside drive and 136th st, 102x109x100x132. The Lowell Co. is erecting 6-sty elevator apartment house on the site. The mortgagee is Metropolitan Life Ins. Co.

An operator in east side tenement property said the invasion of business into that zone would soon result in a noticeable removal of tenement dwellers to other parts, and that the time was not far distant when east side lots will be worth more for business purposes than they are rated under present conditions.

John Kensett Kellogg, real estate broker and agent, has removed his New York offices from 80 William street to the Broadway-Maiden Lane building, 170 Broadway, suite 309. Mr. Kellogg makes a specialty of Long Island acreage property and has a branch office at 549 Nostrand av, near Atlantic av, Brooklyn, for the general business of that section.

Real estate agents on the middle West Side say that rentals of tenements are gradually increasing, and that values are beginning to feel the benefit of the advance, which seems to be more general in that section than in any other. Louis Schrag, 124 West 23d st, said that this is the case in his district, and that these changes were exerting a good influence on this class of investment. October, he said, is now the chief renting month of the year.

The Ogden estate, which is to be dispersed on April 24-25 through Mr. Day in the auction room, lies in a pretty part of the East Bronx, which is being benefited by the new cross-town trolley running over Washington Bridge to the Subway. The lots lie on the ridge, south of the bridge, and on the terraces descending to the river level. While some of the streets on the map are not graded, all the avenues running through the property are completed.

H. L. Van Norden, manager Manhattan branch office in the Times building for the McCormick Real Estate Co., which operates extensively in Long Island real estate, said his company has entirely closed out its large holdings of 3,800 lots at Rosedale, L. I., a large part of which was sold when the snow was on the ground. Mr. Van Norden considers that the Long Island realty market is still active, opinions to the contrary notwithstanding.

Albert B. Ashforth, 4 West 33d st, Manhattan, says that the market is really picking up, and that he believes that the present good feeling is a reflection of the large transactions consummated a short time ago. He further said that the rapid leasing of new buildings now going on is exerting a wholesome effect on the market, because it is an incentive to renew undertakings of greater magnitude. Mr. Ashforth incidentally mentioned the fact that his office had just closed a deal of some importance, particulars of which would be announced later.

Flushing now has a real estate board of brokers, the third or fourth to be organized in Queens county. Some see in this a dissipation of strength, but experience teaches the contrary. Many sticks bound together make a strong bunch. When the brokers in South Brooklyn, Williamsburgh and Staten Island have fully organized they should join with Brooklyn, Bronx, Jamaica, Flushing, Jersey City and Newark and other local boards in sending delegates to a central body—"The Real Estate Board of Brokers of New York." What a hammer it would make?

William H. Moffitt, President of the William H. Moffitt Realty Company, was tendered a complimentary dinner by his employees at Cafe Francis Thursday evening. The occasion was arranged in honor of Mr. Moffitt's return from a three months' tour of Europe, on which he was accompanied by Mrs. Moffitt and his son, Charles W. Moffitt. Seventy-five of his employees, all of whom are engaged in the development of Long Island real estate, sat down to dinner. At the guest table were the following: William H. Moffitt, Dr. Joseph E. Smith, Walter Duckworth, Hon. M. F. McGoldrick, William White, P. J. Carlin, Dr. Edward O'Neill and Rev. J. J. Belford. Mr A. P. Kennedy, Vice-President of the company, presided as toastmaster, and the surprise of the evening took the form of a loving-cup, suitably engraved, presented to Mr Kennedy by the employees.

The Results of the Albany Hearing.

On Wednesday, April 17, the Joint Judicial Committee of the House and Senate met to consider Bill No. 321 as introduced by Hon. Ezra P. Prentice in Assembly and Hon. John B. Colahan in the Senate. At this meeting there was a large delegation from New York and Brooklyn, headed by the Real Estate Board of Brokers of New York, who actively advocated the passage of this bill. Among those present were: President David A. Clarkson, Capt. Wm. Henry Folsom, Sir Daniel O'Connor, of Australia, George W. Thompson, Deputy Registrar of Kings County, John Pullman, president of the Real Estate Board of Brokers of Brooklyn, and Sidney Lowell and M. Joseph Harson.

The opposition was ably represented by Walter Lindner, solicitor of the Title Guarantee & Trust Co., and Jabes Holmes, representing the Lawyers Title Insurance Co. After a reception tendered by the Governor, the delegation was kept waiting, owing to the Judiciary Committee pushing this meeting aside from hour to hour, and not taking into consideration the many citizens who were interested in this movement. The official time set for the hearing was 2.30 P. M., but President Clarkson did not have a chance to speak for his side of the question until about 5.30 o'clock. He was ably assisted by Sir Daniel O'Connor and Messrs. Thompson and Lowell. The title companies then replied with the argument that the law would not be constitutional, which objection could readily be obviated by enacting a law that is absolutely constitutional.

There is a meeting of the Joint Judicial Committee promised for Wednesday, April 24, at which time it will be seen who wins. The Merchants' Association, the West End Association and the Realty Board of Brooklyn are to meet the Board of Governors and Legislative Committee of the Real Estate Board of Brokers of New York on Monday, April 22, at 3.30 P. M., in the board room at 156 Broadway, Manhattan, to select a delegation to further represent the interests of the people, the taxpayers and rentpayers of Greater New York and surroundings at the hearing in Albany.

It is particularly fortunate at this time to note that the Real Estate Board of Brokers has a legislative commtitee who are empowered to elect associate members at the small fee of $5, thereby enabling realty owners who are interested in taxation to keep in touch with all movements appertaining to real estate in New York.

Brokers Favor the Torrens System.

Another open meeting for the purpose of more fully explaining the workings of the Torrens system of title registration and for the further intention of inviting arguments for and against the measure was held on Monday afternoon at the Exchange salesroom in Vesey st, under the auspices of the Real Estate Board of Brokers. Francis E. Ward, former President of that organization, in the opening address said in part:

The Torrens act is a law which permits the owner of real estate to secure the registration of his title, which, when so registered, is subject to no attack, collateral or direct. A petition is filed. The matter is referred to an examiner who within a short time reports on the state of the title. If found to be in the petitioner, notice is published and served on all adjoining owners and adverse claimants. On the return day a decree of registration may be entered and petitioner's title confirmed. An original certificate is filed, and duplicate handed to the property owner. On one side appears the owner's name and a description of the land, on the other a memorandum of any encumbrances. The transfers of mortgages are filed and appropriate entries made on the certificate. Dis-

At the close of the meeting the following resolution was passed:

Close of the Real Estate School.

HALF a dozen speeches really good stirred the members and friends of the real estate school of the West Side Y. M. C. A. at the dinner to signalize the end of the term, which was given at Reisenweber's on Tuesday evening, Francis E. Ward, Esq., presiding. They were speeches which should have been delivered in the largest banquet hall in the city and heard by as many representatives of property interests as could crowd in. As it was, the number of hearers represented the capacity of the hall. The occasion was honored by the presence of Sir Daniel O'Connor, of Australia, and the Hon. Leslie M. Shaw, now president of the Carnegie Trust Company, but formerly Secretary of the United States Treasury, as well as by a number of distinguished New Yorkers. Regarding the subject matter of the speeches it can be said in general that they were singularly able, and particularly with reference to the deliverances of Secretary Shaw, Sir Daniel O'Connor, Rabbi Wise and Mr. Buttenwieser, of high oratorical power.

Emerson says somewhere that everything has its price—pay the price and the thing is yours. Something near that was the line of thought which Secretary Shaw followed. He said those who would win success must pay the price in hard work. As a young man looks out on life he thinks that he was born too late, because all the positions are filled. He finds it hard to plant himself well—the roots don't strike in easily, and the pavement is hard. But while this seemed an ungracious era, it was really not so. There was never any better age than this. All a man had to do was to be a little better in his line than his competitors. How to be better qualified the Secretary proceeded to tell, and his first advice was to be loyal to clients. "If you will do your best for those who employ you, there will be no doubt about your success."

Economy—old-fashioned economy—was strongly counseled. (The Secretary evidently retains his belief in old-fashioned virtues.) He said the world did not care how modestly a man lived, so long as he was all right himself. "Always save something from your salary; you will need it twenty-five years from now. Work to get a roof over your children's heads. I maintain that a man can be respectable and yet own his own house." (That's what he said, but his audience didn't see the point soon enough to smile.)

Rabbi Wise spoke on "Real Values and Realty Values"; Mr. Buttenwieser on the "Operator's Share in the Growth of the City"; Sir Daniel O'Connor on "Title Registration in Australia"—so the program said; Mr. Day on "Out of the Rut," and Mr. Simon on "The Real Estate Broker." All took high ground and counseled the most efficient, faithful and honorable service on the part of real estate dealers, brokers and agents in behalf of their clients and for the welfare of the community.

The real estate classes have been highly successful under the management of the young Educational Director of the Y. M. C. A., Mr. W. H. Britigan, and in imitation of this school many others have been organized in various parts of the country.

Mr. Littman's Career.

ON Saturday, April 13, there passed away Morris Littman, one of the last of the operators whose activities extended from the past generation into our time. He was a keen judge of real estate and at a very early stage in his career recognized the great opportunities of well located real estate. It was not in the number of his transactions, but rather in the careful and wise selection of localities that lay the true secret of his remarkable success.

He arrived in this country, a poor young man, about the year 1855 and engaged in the grocery business. By dint of economy and industry he managed to save enough to take the first step in his real estate ventures, soon to rise by rapid stages into the very forefront of the real estate operators of the early '60s. Mr. Littman was one of the only operators who conducted his business so wisely and conservatively that the panic of '73 did not in the least disturb him, but on the contrary gave him new and broader opportunities.

Among his numerous transactions it might be interesting to mention at least two, as showing his prophetic grasp of real estate values. He purchased the 5th av front on which now stands Hotel Savoy and resold it years afterwards to Judge Dugro at a remarkable advance. Years ago he bought the southeast corner of 125th st and Lenox av, which property he still owned at the time of his death. To show the rapid growth of New York City it is instructive to know that this plot, 100x90, cost Mr. Littman, some twenty-five years ago, about $50,000, and is worth to-day ten times that amount.

FIRMS in the Building Trades find that it pays in more ways than one to be represented in the advertising pages of the leading Metropolitan Real Estate and Building paper.

Mr. Littman had not been active as a purchaser for many years past, but he knew enough to retain many of his properties until the growth of the city had fully realized his fondest dreams of their prospective possibilities.

Personal.

The retirement from business of the old firm of Richard V. Harnett & Co. is announced, and the office plant will go under the hammer next Monday. (See advertisement elsewhere.) The members of this firm were long leaders among auctioneers, brokers, appraisers and agents. They formerly sold stocks and bonds as well as real estate. Mr. Harnett was the founder of the firm about the year 1876. Henry W. Donald, after graduating from the Peekskill military academy, entered the employ of Mr. Harnett, and five years later became his partner. Mr. Sheldon B. Shaw was admitted to the firm subsequently.

Meetings in the interest of real estate on several occasions have had the pleasure of hearing Sir Daniel O'Connor, of Australia, since he has been staying in New York. Sir Daniel is one of the grand old men of his country, and no doubt would so stand out in any country. He has been postmaster general and has filled other eminent positions, so he is inclined to be satisfied because his parents carried him off to the Antipodes when he was a child, instead of letting him take his chances in Ireland, where he was born. Sir Daniel is good to look at and good to listen to. His face is framed in a beautiful beard, such as most British gentlemen still continue to wear, in the colonies as well as at home. Sir Daniel's is white, as is also his abundant hair, and when he gets to the top of his speech and is on fire with eloquence, he is quite irresistible. He happens in while New York is talking about the Torrens bill, and his deliverances have been mainly on that theme; but give him his own subject and we fancy you would indeed hear "a second Daniel O'Connell." The Torrens system receives his highest recommendation, and no doubt it just suits Australia. New York is quite a little more than he can understand. Why the dailies should give six lines to a two-hour speechfest and twelve columns to six three-minute rounds with the gloves, is beyond him. (Sir Daniel should try our weeklies!) The Australian enjoys hearing a good speech as well as making one. His "hear—hears!" at the Y. M. C. A. dinner sounded very English. Sir Daniel tells us that Australia is as free as America. That's more than plenty, sir.

REAL ESTATE RECORDS

Key to abbreviations:

1st.—Q. C. is an abbreviation for Quit Claim deed, i. e., a deed wherein all the right, title and interest of the grantor is conveyed, omitting all covenants and warranty.

2d.—C. a. G. means a deed containing Covenant against Grantor only, in which he covenants that he hath not done any act whereby the estate conveyed may be impeached, charged or encumbered.

3d.—B. & S. is an abbreviation for Bargain and Sale deed, wherein, although the seller makes no expressed consideration, and thus impliedly claims to be the owner of it.

4th.—The street and avenue numbers given in these lists are, in all cases, taken from the insurance maps when they are not mentioned in the deeds. The numbers, it will occasionally be found, do not correspond with the existing ones, owing to there having been no official designation made of them by the Department of Public Works.

5th.—The first date is the date the deed was drawn. The second date is the date of filing same. When both dates are the same, only one is given.

6th.—The figures in each conveyance, thus, 2:482—10, denote that the property mentioned is in section 2, block 482, lot 10.

7th.—It should also be noted in section and block numbers that the instrument as filed is strictly followed.

8th.—A $20 000—$30,000 indicates the assessed value of the property, the first figures being for the lot only, and the second figures representing both lot and building. Letter P before second figure indicates that the property is assessed as in course of construction. Valuations are from the assessment roll of 1906.

MORTGAGES

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given and the amount. The general dates used as headlines are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.

The first date is the date the mortgage was drawn, the second the date of filing; when both dates are the same, only one is given.

Subscribers will find mortgages in this list with the wrong block number attached. The block number we give is taken from the instrument as filed.

Mortgages against Bronx property will be found altogether at the foot of this list.

April 12, 13, 15, 16, 17 and 18.

IN nautical parlance Wall Street has been in the "doldrums" this week, and the market has been "backing and filling" to little purpose. He is a wise man indeed, if not an inspired prophet, who can predict or foresee even approximately the course the market will take or its trend. There has been no participation by the public in stocks, and the business, entirely professional in character, has shown that irregularity which it has displayed more or less since the recovery from the great convulsion of last month. The government weather bulletin, so far as it affects the crops, has, of course, been a factor to a certain extent. Crop scares are always in order at this time of year and they have been freely used by operators on both sides of the merket, wheat for July delivery touching the season's highest price. Western houses have been active in circulating crop damage stories which had more or less basis of truth, but two or three weeks of fine weather will soon eliminate from the market such disturbing influences. There has been much talk about Mr. Harriman in connection with Union Pacific. The gentleman denies that the railroad company is contemplating any note issues or financing of any description, but was silent about a probable issue of preferred stock. Declarations of this character either one way or the other are not likely to create activity in Wall Street on the part of the public, who are tired of being "lambs" and only will come into the market, if they come at all, when their judgment justifies operations that will be successful. These remarks, of course, apply to those who have suffered, for it must not be forgotten that new recruits for the lamb flock are coming in daily. This is not to be wondered at, for however much one may decry Wall Street speculative methods he must be a pessimist indeed who is not bullish on the country. The deposits in State and savings banks have in fifty years risen from less than three hundred million dollars to more than six billions and the total deposits to upwards of twelve billions, and the progressive process still goes on upward and onward. Money both for time and call loans continues easy. Rates for exchange on New York at certain points in the West show that there is still an outward movement of currency. Those who loan money say that profits are not to be made in such a money market and when there is an eager demand for cash, rates will rise.

BY THE SALE of the Ogden estate, which constituted the great business of the week in the auction room, more than a thousand lots will pass into the possession of those who will be likely to develop them. As the sale is still going on at this writing, the exact number of lots cannot be given; but there are some fifteen hundred in the whole tract and the probabilities are strong that the auction will continue from day to day until all are disposed of. It has been one of the most interesting sales in the history of the city, attracting a great number of buyers each day, who filled the room to its capacity, while the bidding was all that could possibly have been hoped for. Undoubtedly the thorough preparation which the auctioneer (Mr. Joseph P. Day) had made, his good judgment and cleverness, the favorable terms and the advantages of the situation of the lots, appealed to and went far to meet a great and unsatisfied desire on the part of the public for more building space. The section in which these lots are situated has been regarded with favor by some of the largest operators in the financial district of old New York. We have heard it said by the head of one of the wealthiest syndicates that a purchase in the vicinity of Washington Bridge, on the Bronx side, would be a perfectly safe one. No doubt this opinion is generally held, though it must be said that the lay of the land is not in every part inviting, and that all the lots which went under the hammer are not eligible to high classification. At any rate, a large portion are desirably situated, although in most cases the physical contour of the individual lots leaves a great deal to be desired. Not even the refusal of the Interborough syndicate to bid for the contract of building a subway up Jerome Avenue turned any noticeable damper against the bidding, and hopes continue strong that the city government will find a way of providing the rapid transit which the West Bronx is fairly entitled to. Summing up the sales of the first two days, it is found that a total of 493 lots were sold for $668,990, or at an average of $1,500 a lot. For one little irregular lot of 1500 square feet, situated at the corner of Boscobel Place and Ogden av, where it faces the plaza at the end of Washington Bridge, the sum of $15,800 was bid, and $11,000 for the adjoining lot. No doubt the whole section will be quickly built up, and it may be timely to call attention to the field that there is here for high-class residences. Who questions the statement that the building of flats has been overdone in the Bronx? Purchasers of average-quality dwellings, who would prefer to live closer to the city if builders would meet their requirements, are forced to New Rochelle, Mount Vernon, Yonkers, Flatbush and the Jerseys. Considerable money was made in building a good class of houses on the West Side of Manhattan, and now the West Side of the Bronx offers a similar opportunity. Such development as has already come to the section is almost wholly of this sort, and it is very much hoped that it will continue, for the crying need of the city is for dwellings and not for flats.

CHIEF ENGINEER LEWIS has given out a list of improvements to which the City of New York is already definitely committed. The cost of these improvements, all of which are absolutely necessary to provide for the growth in population and business aggregates almost $200,000,000. Inasmuch as the bills will not have to be met all at once, the existing debt margin amounting to $80,000,000 and the normal additions thereto during the coming five years, will be sufficient to meet these necessary claims. But this is not the whole story. The Chief Engineer's list does not include many improvements which are almost if not quite as necessary as those already adopted—among which should be mentioned the new sewer system for Manhattan, a new court-house and new fire-houses. None of these plans can be indefinitely postponed, because the increase of tall buildings all over Manhattan is already taxing the existing sewers beyond their capacity, the present court-house is both unsanitary and cramped in size, and the need of new fire-houses and police stations is not the sort of need which a city can afford to neglect. Neither is this all. The city is beginning the construction of a new system of water supply which will cost $160,000,000; and while this sum is not chargeable against the debt limit, the money will nevertheless have to be raised. At the present time the city is barely able to borrow at four per cent. Will it be able to raise about $400,000,000 during the next six years without paying more than four per cent.? In short the financial condition of New York City is really very precarious, and the responsibility resting on her authorities very serious. In spite of the enormous increase in real estate assessments which has taken place during the past five years, the city is barely able to pay its way; and it is difficult to understand how it will pay its way hereafter except by neglecting many of its responsibilities. Moreover it looks as if one result of the present condition was pretty sure to be an increase of the tax bills. The current expenses of the city are beginning to increase faster than ever. The school teachers and the police force will both cost largely increased sums next year, and it is doubtful whether the regular increase of the city's income will be sufficient to meet these additional charges. The income from real estate is on the average so much larger now than it was a few years ago that the property-owners can stand a slight increase in taxes; but they will do well to look out, because if the city's salary list continues to swell, their tax bills may become inconveniently bigger. The conclusion from all these depressing considerations is not that the outlook is hopeless, but that the financial condition of New York may really become critical, unless some very severe economies are practiced.

BOROUGH PRESIDENT AHEARN, in resisting investigation by the Commissioners of Accounts, is resisting the inevitable. From the evidence collected by the Citizens' Union and others, the Mayor most assuredly had every reason to order an investigation, and the more stubbornly it is resisted, the more desirable it will become. The streets of New York are in a most distressing condition, and although Mr. Ahearn is personally above suspicion, the real difficulty consists in the fact that the Borough-Presidents are officially independent of the Mayor and cannot be held responsible by him for the proper conduct of their departments. The provision made in the Charter that the Borough-Presidents should have exclusive charge of local business and should be elected by the votes of the local citizens apparently promotes efficient local government by making the chief executive official of the boroughs responsible only to his own constituency. As a matter of fact such a system promotes irresponsibility. Whether or not a candidate for Borough-President is elected or re-elected does not depend upon his qualifications or his efficient conduct of his department. It depends entirely upon the general political situation. The official record of the equipment of the candidates for such subordinate offices count for nothing at all, unless perhaps, a particular candidate were flagrantly corrupt or incompetent. The only way to secure the efficient administration of the duties bestowed on the Borough-Presidents is to make them responsible to the Mayor. They must be appointed by him, as are the other departmental heads, and they must be removable by him. The position of the Borough-Presidents at the present time is somewhat ludicrous as well as unsatisfactory. When they are men of some energy and ability like Mr. Coler in Brooklyn, they are continually trying to keep themselves in the public eye and become star performers. But their official powers are not sufficient to justify such high ambitions; and they appear to the public like men who are shouting a few small lines in a loud voice and a pompous manner. When the charter is revised they should be reduced to a situation of dependence on the Mayor, and should be deprived of certain executive powers which properly belong to the chief executive of the whole city.

For Larger Powers of Condemnation.

To the Editor of the Record and Guide:

Dear Sir—I noticed an article in the Real Estate Record of April 6, referring to the report of the New York City Improvement Commission and the question of conferring upon the City larger powers of condemnation.

Stress has frequently been placed by those not favoring such plan on the possibility that the City might be involved in "real estate speculation" if such increased power of condemnation were given to it. It does not necessarily follow, however, from the giving of such power to the City that it would exercise it in such way as to involve itself in "real estate speculation." If given this power the City could utilize it in such a way through contractors that it would without assuming a risk realize the benefit. If, for instance, the City should advertise for bids for the carrying out of any improvement, say the opening of a new avenue, and, as one of the terms and conditions of the bid, provide that it would condemn an area in excess of that actually required for the particular avenue so as to take in the abutting property, it is not unreasonable to anticipate that those experienced in the development of real estate would see the possibility of realizing a large profit in the difference between the price which the City would have to pay for the property in condemnation proceedings and that at which it could be sold for after the improvement had been made, and with the hope of realizing this advantage would make a bid for carrying out the improvement at a figure lower than the work could otherwise be done by the City. In other words, the City, as part of the contract and in order to reduce to it the cost of the improvement, could give to the contractors the opportunity of acquiring the adjoining property at the price which the City would have to pay for it in the condemnation proceedings.

A somewhat similar arrangement was provided in connection with the building of the Rapid Transit Road. By the terms of the contract, it was provided that the necessary lands for stations, etc., should be condemned by the City, but turned over to the contractor at cost. It does not seem to me that this method of utilizing the increased condemnation power has received sufficient attention in the discussion of the matter which has taken place. Yours truly,

25 Broad Street. F. K. PENDLETON.

Building Loan Money

A Comparison of Statistics, with Views of a Leading Firm of Brokers.

FROM present appearances and according to the best opinions Money for building purposes during the season now opening will be tight and easy by turns—or in spots. This is the hour—on the threshold of May—when builders wish to be informed upon the financial probabilities of the season. It was expected that this particular week would see Money more plentiful for builders, but it is less so, as a general statement, than a month ago. But New York City is too huge and composite for generalizations to be accurate, and an exception must be entered for a large part of the territory of Manhattan, and also for a few other choice sections, where high class risks seldom fail to secure such accommodations as are asked for. Money is most difficult to obtain for loans in regions newly come under developing operations, and the interests depending upon these fields of activities feel the stringency most.

Records regularly printed in the Record and Guide disclose that the total amount of money represented by mortgages filed this year in Manhattan and the Bronx is $150,143,620, while the record of the corresponding period in the previous year was only $118,409,517. In Brooklyn $48,215,699 has been loaned on bond and mortgage from Jan. 1 to date, as compared to $40,735,670. The total number of mortgages filed this year in Manhattan and the Bronx thus far has been (according to the previous issue of the Record and Guide) 7,568 to compare with 8,099 for the same period last year. In Brooklyn the number for this year is 10,393, to compare with 9,695 in the corresponding period of 1906.

While more money, on a fewer number of mortgages, has been loaned this year thus far than in 1906, it will be found upon reference to the statistics of 1905, that the number of mortgages filed from Jan. 1 to April 20 of that year in Manhattan and the Bronx was 10,118, and the amount loaned $188,960,793. We are thus nearly 38 millions short in amount and some 25 hundred short in number of mortgages, compared to the record of the best building year the Metropolis has ever seen, and this comparison explains the situation better than does a comparison with the statistics of the year 1906. In Brooklyn Borough the loans on bond and mortgage are 10 million dollars less thus far than for the corresponding term in 1905.

It is incorrect to say that the title companies are making no loans; they do not loan always in every part of the greater city—they are not making loans of every character, but they are making some, as our records show. Mr. G. Harding Davis, of the firm of A. L. Mordecai & Sons, says that at present "there is money to be obtained for building loans if the man who asks for the loans is financially thoroughly responsible and if his contemplated operation is in a good and established neighborhood, and the operation is a reasonably conservative one." Further, Mr. Davis remarked:

The title companies do not make the majority of building loans. During the year, from July 1, 1905, to July 1, 1906, they loaned only 20 of the total loans of this character, which aggregated about $75,000,000. The three private concerns loaned as much as the title companies, and the two life insurance companies who make a specialty of building loans loaned together as much more. The balance of the loans were made by individual operators, who used their own money or borrowed it from their banks or trust companies, giving their note and the building loan mortgage as collateral. At the present time there is money to be obtained from the private building loan companies as well as the title companies, but individual operators are not making many, if any, loans, as they cannot get accommodations as formerly, and the life insurance companies have also shut down for the present.

An enormous demand for money all over the world due to prosperity and expansion is primarily the cause of the present tight money market. And local conditions in New York have accentuated this as regard to building loans and permanent loans on new tenements.

If all the operators who have bought vacant lots in North Harlem, Washington Heights and the Bronx in the past two or three years, and still own them unimproved, could obtain building loans and permanent loans from their banks or title companies, they would find builders who would take the property and the loan, and there would be plenty of activity in these localities, but the title companies and building loan companies seem to think that these localities are over built, and the banks are lending their money to their merchant clients in preference to accepting real estate building loans as collateral, and as a result loans on this kind of property are hard or impossible to obtain, and as the builders are not buying, the operators cannot sell, and therefore they are not buying any more vacant lots.

Nearly all the lots sold to operators and investors in the past three years have been sold subject to mortgages. These mortgages are now coming due, and the demand for renewal of same and the obtaining of new loans where the old ones must be paid off is abnormal. With conditions unfavorable to obtaining loans on high class property, it is obvious why there is such a cry on the part of owners of vacant land about inability to borrow on this class of security.

The situation can be summed up, therefore, briefly, as follows: The demand for money is abnormally large and the supply is unusually limited. Applications for loans on high class property receive preference over vacant lots and new tenements in the outlying sections. As a result, where loans are obtained on these latter properties, large margins are demanded. The operator and the builder are obliged to keep a much larger equity in their property than they had counted on, and they lay the blame to the money market.

It is the opinion of some close observers that these conditions will work their own cure and that stoppage of building in these sections is a benefit, and will enable present owners to rent and market their properties, and after a time create a new and proper demand for the vacant lots in those sections.

It is well to add, in order to guard against misapprehension, that not all the mortgages filed represent actual new money loans. A large sum must be set down for purchase money mortgages on properties bought partly for cash and by giving back to the sellers mortgages for the balance of the purchase price. Another sum must be estimated for renewal mortgages for slightly increased amounts, and also an amount to represent old mortgages called in, made over and recorded in order to bring them under the privileges of the new Recording Tax law. Just how much is to be estimated for actual money exchanges is problematical. But it may fairly be inferred from the records of mortgages and building of recent years that somewhere near $300,000,000 of actual money is in constant employment, in continuous process of exchange, in the real estate and building industries of Greater New York, year in and year out, and that this sum is steadily increasing in amount.

Real Estate Appraisers.

A PECULIARITY of the present real estate market is disclosed by complaints from Manhattan property owners and money lenders that it is difficult to obtain accurate appraisals because of the tendency of real estate men to give low calculations rather than accurate valuations. The reason for this seems to be that the appraisers have a great deal to do, and try to give values safe for their customers, rather than make an exhaustive investigation of each property appraised. Mr. E. S. Avery, Trust Officer of the Van Norden Trust Company, Fifth av and 60th st, relates an instance where an investor was misled by a so-called "conservative appraisal."

"Only last week a man had a rare opportunity to buy a private house at $75,000. He consulted a real estate appraiser, who valued the house at $60,000, and dissuaded him from buying. Within a week the house sold for $80,000. A careful canvass of the neighborhood showed that the property could not be duplicated for $85,000. The man felt that he had been misled and complained to the appraiser. The reply was 'We are conservative and give low valuations.'

"Has an appraiser any more right to undervalue than to overvalue real estate? The temptation to undervalue is two-fold. Low valuations tend to give a reputation for conservatism among those uninformed. In the second place it requires the least labor and skill to give a low or so-called conservative appraisal. Your conservative appraiser can sit at his desk and write a 'safe appraisal.'

"The low or so-called conservative appraiser is not a safe or satisfactory guide. He is necessarily inaccurate, falling into the easy way of relying on his 'low valuations' rather than a thorough investigation. The result is that he undervalues in one section and overvalues in another. He frequently dissuades a lender from accepting a mortgage loan which is absolutely safe, and a purchaser from buying property at a bargain price.

"The accurate appraiser is necessarily a very well-informed and skillful man. He is not contented with a mere record of sales in the vicinity of the property to be appraised; he makes a special canvass of the vicinity to ascertain the prices at which similar properties can be bought. The special advantages or disadvantages of the property under consideration are studied. The absurdity of giving as an opinion that property is worth only $50,000 when it will sell for not less than $60,000 and cannot be duplicated for $65,000 is apparent."

The Builder's Opportunity.

There never was a more pressing need for tenements in Long Island City than exists at the present moment. Many of the thousands of factory operatives who have obtained employment in that section of Queens Borough since the appearance of the modern establishment are forced by lack of proper accommodations to seek shelter in other parts. The effect of this shortage is not only working a hardship on the new laboring element, but is also manifested in the unnecessary crowding of the legitimate population of that locality, frequently resulting in removals elsewhere.

Notwithstanding the large number of tenements which are planned for the Long Island City section, it is maintained on good authority that they will be insufficient to house the swelling ranks of factory and railroad hands and their families. Many of the apartments recently completed, such as the Syndicate block, are of the latest type of construction, but their prohibitive rentals debar the working class from occupying them.

In canvassing the subject a well-known promoter said he advised a careful study of the situation and that in his opinion the opportunity of the tenement builder was now at hand.

Arguments for Bronx County.

AMONG real estate brokers there are some whose opinions are not represented by the resolutions against "Bronx County" recently passed by the Real Estate Association of the Bronx. One of the strongest arguments against setting up a new county relates to the enormous expense that would be a consequence of another list of public officers, clerks and servants, "but it is in the creation of these very officers that we see relief from the onerous conditions that now prevail," writes Mr. Charles F. Mehltretter, of Tremont. He would have the Bronx provided with a county organization similar to that in Kings, Queens and Richmond, and in his view the Borough is as much entitled to it:

"It is unnecessary for a purchaser of property in Long Island City or Brooklyn to spend more than twenty minutes or half an hour in reaching a county clerk's office to file his papers, but it is necessary for a purchaser in the Bronx to spend half a day for the same purpose. All real estate transactions in the Borough of the Bronx are handicapped by the shadow of Manhattan, which overhangs and sometimes deters action. As the matter now stands a title in the Borough of the Bronx must be established at the lower end of Manhattan or at White Plains, which has now no connection whatsoever with the Bronx. Instead of being a county by itself, it seems to be an orphan over which two other counties are continually at words. There is not at the present time a possibility of establishing in the Borough of the Bronx a real estate auction exchange. Owners, investors, builders, money lenders, are dependent upon the conditions prevailing in Manhattan, which are not, as all can see, the same as in a rapidly increasing residential district such as we have north of the Harlem River. A County Clerk's office in the Borough of the Bronx, or as it would then be known, the Bronx County, would facilitate matters so greatly that huge enterprises now held in abeyance would be rushed to a conclusion satisfactory to all parties on all sides."

Notwithstanding the resolutions of the Association of Bronx Real Estate Brokers, Mr. Mehltretter's own investigations among real estate men convinces him that the measure really is desired by the majority of Bronx brokers.

"All those with whom I have spoken are unqualifiedly in favor of Bronx County. Just why real estate men should be made to appear opposed to a measure that will be of benefit to them is puzzling. In the matter of legal sales alone the benefit to real estate operations would be great. As the matter now stands the sale of property at foreclosure or by court order must take place at the lower end of Manhattan, and it frequently results that heirs and owners are materially injured by the comparison of Bronx values with those of Manhattan to the detriment of the Bronx. Property sold in Manhattan frequently brings much less than it would if the sale could be had in the Bronx, where the growing values are better known. It is sometimes impossible for Bronx people to attend sales so far away, whereas in the separate county, with the sales in a place more readily reached, at a great saving of time, money values would be much better represented.

"And when a man has his property foreclosed, it is put up down town. In nine cases out of ten there will be a deficiency judgment, whereas were the same property sold up here in the Bronx, his neighbors would have a chance to bid it in and give the man a chance in place of making him loose all. The proof that we realize better prices for Bronx property than the down-town exchange is that property is bought in for a song there and resold at private sale at a profit of five or six thousand dollars more. So why should we not have the privilege of legal sales? And we will get them, as they are a matter of importance to every real estate operator."

The Mayor and the Larger Condemnation Plan.

Interest in the County Courthouse project has abated since the financial inability of the city to further advance it at this time became apparent, but the principle of larger condemnation power which was advanced in this connection has attracted powerful friends. In a note to the chairman of the City Improvement Commission, Mayor McClellan himself took occasion to commend it, saying:

In this connection I desire to endorse most emphatically the recommendation of the commission that larger powers be given to the city in relation to condemning property for public use. It is of the utmost importance that the expense of these proceedings should be lessened in every possible way, and I know of no better method of reaching this end than by seking legislation which will confer upon the city the right to condemn a larger area than it can now acquire under the law in one proceeding, so that it may use the surplus to its best advantage.

Further, the mayor has asked for the scheme the support of all citizens and civic societies, and trusts that it will receive the approval of the Legislature.

No Subway Bids.

Because of failure to get a bidder the Rapid Transit Commission will have to readvertise the contract, and perhaps modify it. Chairman Shonts says he hopes still to see the city and the Interborough people sit down together and agree on the main features of a tunnel that can be built and operated. He says his company feels under moral obligations to provide additional transit facilities, but under the terms proposed it was a financial impossibility.

Great disappointment is felt throughout the city, especially in the West Bronx, where an underground road up Jerome av is a very urgent necessity. It would cost $88,000,000 to build the Manhattan tunnels, irrespective of the Jerome av sections, and no syndicate feels equal to undertake even this much under existing circumstances. There is a chance that a modification in routes can be made favorable to the hopes based on the Jerome av line, but for any more subways in Brooklyn there is no chance likely to arise for years to come.

THE REALM OF BUILDING

To Encourage Builders.

NEXT Winter a bill will be introduced in the Legislature that would exempt from taxation buildings in course of erection. It is expected that the measure will have the support of the Allied Interests of the State of New York; and if a proper degree of public approval be manifested it is understood that the Tax Board will not oppose it, as they have similar bills previously. Under the existing statute the taxes imposed against a building while in course of construction, and before it has earned a dollar for its owner, is a large item, if the building is two or more years under the process.

This is one of several ways in which, as builders complain, the public laws, instead of encouraging building, as they should, impose hardships upon their owners. It is a subject to which too little attention has been given, and now claims the best thought of statesmen, to the end that laws bearing unjustly hard on dwellings, factories and buildings generally should be relaxed. The president of the Century Realty Co., Mr. W. H. Chesebrough, who is identified with a number of the costliest improvements in the city, in some remarks through the Evening Post, takes a stand in favor of relieving from taxation buildings in course of construction, and gives this reason:

Anything which may be done toward improving the property within the city is to the city's interest, for not only does it give a new and increased value to the property improved but it also, in most cases, gives higher values to the land all about. I think that because of the increased revenue from improved property that the city should encourage construction, and should assist in making the actual cost as low as possible.

"Several notable building operations were planned recently, and everything was arranged for work to be started when the question of cost came up and the projects fell through. In every case the amounts which caused the failure of the operations were less than the tax on the buildings would have been during the time of construction."

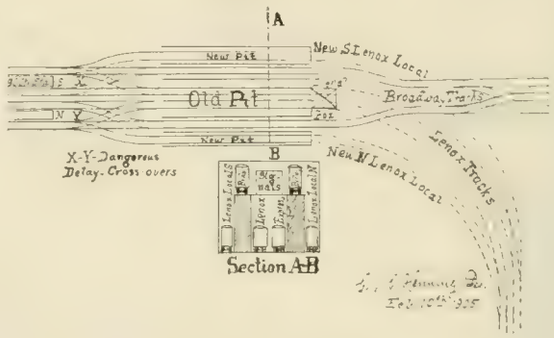
Heretofore it has been alleged that a wrong advantage might be taken of such a law—to delay completing contracts; but the bill has a time schedule under which no building would have more than two years' grace.

Points on the Material Market.

John H. Graham & Co., 113 Chambers st, New York, agents of Mason & Parker, Winchester, Mass., announce an advance in their line of bit braces approximating 10 per cent.

Hudson River brick quotations are somewhat higher this week, as manufacturers are holding cargoes at the works for orders, instead of shipping indiscriminately as heretofore.

The general tone of the cement market is better than a week ago, with an increased demand. Rosendale cement in wood (within lighterage limits) wholesales at 95c. per bbl., and in duck bags at 98c. per bbl.



Manufacturers of builders' hardware state that while the volume of business is not so large as a year ago there is still a heavy demand for all lines and grades, especially from the Central and Western States.

High prices for the copper steel and lead metals used in the electrical trade are influencing promoters against installing electrical generating plants at the present time, and the Western Electric Company reports business as falling off, so much so that several thousand men have recently been laid off at its various works.

It is announced that beginning May 1 prices of granite in Vermont will be advanced on all rough stock. The quarry owners have notified the manufacturers that the advance will range from five cents per cubic foot for ordinary small stock to ten and fifteen cents for larger stock. The chief reason assigned for the advance is the increased cost of quarrying, owing to material advances in the wages during the last few years. The manufacturers are not contemplating an immediate advance in the price of the finished product.

Proposed 96th St. Subway Improvement.

Valuable suggestions are herewith submitted as shown in the accompanying study of proposed changes to be made to the tracks in the Subway at 96th st, which would no doubt immediately prevent all delays to both the Lenox local and all the Broadway trains, at the same time avoiding the great danger of a possible collision between the Lenox local and the Broadway express at this point. The remedy suggested is that a new switch be put in on the local track, at the north end of the 96th st station, to a new track to be built just east of the present northbound tracks, descending the same as the present Lenox av tracks and striking in on them at the 103d st curve. To avoid delays going south, a new track for Lenox av local trains should leave the 103d st curve of the Lenox av tracks by a new track running under the Broadway lines, and then parallel to but west of them and rising to the level of the Broadway tracks, and then switching in on the local tracks just at the north end of 96th st station.. Consulting Engineer Gus C. Henning, No. 150 Nassau st, Manhattan, maintains that the construction of these two additional tracks would not interfere with the operation of the trains at any time whatsoever. A copy of his proposal and scheme of equipment was presented to President Alexander E. Orr, of the Rapid Transit Commissioners, February 10, 1905, but received no action. George L. Rives, of counsel of the Rapid Transit Commission, has reported to the board that to make any changes in the Subway at 96th st, exactly the same steps would have to be taken as would be necessary in constructing a new line—consents of property owners obtained and all other formalities gone through with.

Perry Belmont's Washington Palace.

WASHINGTON.—The site of Perry Belmont's house is being prepared for the builders. Designs for the house were made by E. Samson, a Paris architect. The greater part of the work on the plans was executed while Mr. and Mrs. Belmont were in Europe and were able to watch personally the preparation of the designs. M. Samson has sent a representative to this country to superintend the work. Horace Trumbauer, the Philadelphia architect, will also take a part in superintending the construction. The estimated cost of the building alone is $500,000. Payne & Co., of Philadelphia, are the general contractors. The architecture is in the style of Louis XIV. Surrounding the house will be a narrow strip of parking, which will be made into a formal garden by Duchesne, of Paris. The exterior walls will be constructed entirely of Indiana limestone. A unique feature is found in the plan of the first floor, which is raised a good distance from the ground. Entrance is made by way of a porte-cochere. Instead of having the first floor consist of several reception rooms, an office, and a dining hall, as often is found, the plan shows the whole private part of the house on the first floor.

The building will be put up chiefly by Edward Holbrook, president of the Gorham Manufacturing Co., who will organize a building company. It is expected to have the structure completed, ready for occupancy by May, 1908. With ground and building, the approximate cost is estimated

Many real estate investors, especially those who have known Newark and its surrounding towns since childhood, have long believed that one of the best sections of the Greater Newark that is to be, will lie west of the present city lines and south of the Oranges. This year the belief of these optimists seems destined to receive substantial support. Houses costing from $3,000 to $12,000 and $15,000 are being erected throughout this territory and the opportunities that are presented to investors in low priced dwellings are greater here than elsewhere in the Greater Newark territory.

The price charged to contractors in the Bronx for water used by portable boilers on building jobs has been increased to $13.64 for 20-horse-power boilers a month, and to $26.95 for 40-horse-power boilers. When contractors take water from a fire hydrant, instead of tapping the main, they must pay in addition to the water rent the wages of an inspector whose duty it is to see that no water is wasted. The department will not permit a hydrant to be used unless an inspector is present, and the contractor's alternative is to tap the mains. The department asserts that contractors when using fire hydrants waste the water.

Ogden Estate Auction.

HIGH DEGREE OF INTEREST, LARGE CROWDS AND GOOD BIDDING—SALE WILL BE CONTINUED MONDAY.

It is generally conceded by real estate men and others who attended the sale of the Ogden estate holdings on Wednesday and Thursday of this week that the prices obtained were excellent, and that the results establish beyond a shadow of doubt the unwavering confidence of investors in the future of vacant realty within the limits of the western Bronx. The sale is considered a notable one from the standpoint of attendance, which, contrary to usual custom, increased rather than diminished as the time passed. Of the 1,500 parcels included in the large offering, 214 were sold on the opening day, and realized a total of $276,775. The results of Thursday's sale showed a marked advance in the prices over the sales of Wednesday, which exceeded the above sum by $115,450. In this instance 225 lots were knocked down. The record price reached was $15,800, which was paid for an irregular lot of a trifle more than 1,500 sq. ft., at Boscobel pl and Ogden av, and for an adjoining lot with a frontage of 25 ft. on each thoroughfare $11,000 was obtained. Both parcels were purchased by the "Provincial Realty Co." The fact that a large portion of the lots sold contained much rock no doubt deterred many operators from bidding. While it is said by some that the small purchasers constituted the bulk of buyers, it has been suggested that a number of contractors were to a large extent interested in the acquisition of many of the cheaper lots. The prices obtained along Ogden av varied, but on the whole are considered to represent full values. While the memorandum of easements and reservations contained in the terms of sale (particularly that clause in which the vendor reserved all claim to awards) was considered by many as being unusual, it is not believed to have exerted any important influence upon the success of the auction.

Up to 4 o'clock on Friday afternoon Mr. Day had sold about 100 more lots as laid out on plates 6 and 7, some of the lots on Merriam av bringing $1,000 each. The northeast corner of Aqueduct av and 170th st brought $3,875, and a small gore at junction of Aqueduct and Ogden avs was sold for $10,600. Among the buyers were J. Clarence Davies and other well-known Bronx realty dealers. The prices obtained at Friday's sale were regarded by experts as wonderful, and unless something unforseen happens the total result will, it is said, exceed all previous records for an auction of this description.

The Record and Guide gives in another part of this number a full report of Wednesday's and Thursday's sales, and those yet to come will be reported in next week's issue.

PRIVATE SALES MARKET

The total number of private sales reported for the week was 152, of which 59 were below 59th st, 47 north, and 46 in the Bronx. While the volume of trading was about equal to that of the preceding week, the quality of the business transacted shows a marked improvement. Included in the list of notable transactions may be mentioned the resale of 441 Broadway and that of 574 5th av. In the Bronx several tracts were purchased for improvement, including a parcel of 15 acres on Jerome av and a large plot on Clason Point. Builders in the West Bronx are making many plans for the erection of 2-family frame and brick dwellings to meet the increasing demand in this direction. It was announced on Friday that the sale of the Ogden holdings will be continued on Monday, or until such time as the entire offering shall have been sold by the auctioneer, Joseph P. Day.

11 East 24th Street

Alfred J. Sporborg has withdrawn from the firm of M. Morgenthau, Jr. & Co. of 135 Broadway. The firm will move on May 1 to new offices, 95 Liberty st.

B. H. Weisker, Jr., manager at the Jerome av office of James L. Libby, says that the section south of Fordham road is considered the best renting district in the West Bronx.

West Bronx brokers are complaining of the difficulty in closing pending transactions owing to the uncertainty regarding the building of the projected subway under Jerome av.

Very little building is now in progress in that section of the West Bronx in the vicinity of "Bedford Park Boulevard" and Jerome av. The projected subway, however, will soon effect a change in this condition, say the brokers.

Hall J. How & Co. (Thomas S. Walker), real estate brokers, agents and appraisers with offices at 171 Broadway for the past 23 years, have removed to the Washington Life Building and are occupying a suite of offices on the fifth floor front.

American Real Estate Company, formerly with offices in the Dun Building, 290 Broadway, has moved to the Day and Night Bank Building, southeast corner of 5th av and 44th st, occupying the whole fifth floor. This company is developing a large tract in the Bronx with 2-sty dwellings and apartment houses for rental purposes.

W. Goodale, of S. B. Goodale & Son, 6 West 24th st, Manhattan, in speaking of renting conditions between 23d and 29th sts, Broadway and 7th av, said that there is a good demand for double lofts in that locality, and that they bring about $3,500. In alluding to the smaller sizes he said that they were used chiefly for office purposes in that district.

Brokers doing a renting business in the Waldorf-Astoria section report an increase of inquiries for office space in some of the newer buildings, among them being the Knabe Building, at southeast corner 5th av and 39th st, in which a number of single offices and whole floors has been taken by concerns which a few years ago would doubtless have located downtown. "If the present demand keeps up," said an agent, "there will be very few unoccupied lofts and offices left."

Apartments in the Plaza Hotel, at 5th av and 59th st, are being rented to good advantage, though the building is far from finished, and no renting agent has been appointed. Frederick Sterry, of Hot Springs, Va., will manage the hotel. It is reported that John W. Gates has leased a suite at the rate of $46,000 a year. A subsidiary company of the U. S. Realty Co. is the owner, directors being Henry Budge, H. S. Black, Henry Morgenthau, B. Beinecke and S. Neustadt. Geo. A. Fuller Co. is the contracting builder. The hotel stands in the choicest quarter of New York—without exception.

The results of the auction sales of Washington Heights lots held on Monday and Tuesday prove conclusively that for the present, at least, there is small demand for vacant property in that section of Manhattan. Those in a position to know attribute this unsatisfactory condition to two reasons—overproduction of cheap apartments and a still undesirable condition of the money market. Whatever the cause, the fact remains that the right kind of investors and builders were conspicuously absent from two of the best offerings of Washington Heights lots which have taken place in some time.

Riverside Drive Development.

Riverside Drive, north of 105th st, is steadily developing into a palatial apartment and private house thoroughfare.

William R. Hearst recently purchased the south corner of 105th st, consisting of a vacant plot, 80x100 ft., the latter dimension being in the street, and Morris Schnasia the north corner of 107th street covering an area of 59.10x100, the larger dimension also being in the street. Both these parcels will be improved with detached and beautifully designed private dwelling houses. The four 5-sty American basement dwellings beginning at the north corner of 106th st, on the drive, which were built by Joseph Farley, proved a failure financially. Land is too high priced for speculative private house edifices on this thoroughfare. Mr. Farley, prior to this undertaking, met with considerable success in private-house building speculation in the side streets.

No. 315 Riverside Drive, between 103d and 104th sts, will go under the hammer on Tuesday, the 30th of April. It is described as "a very desirable 5-sty American basement limestone, bay window front dwelling and 4-sty butler's pantry and bathroom extension, 17 rooms and two bathrooms and shower, handsomely finished in hardwoods, hardwood floors, marble mantels, fireplaces and gas logs, open plumbing, &c., with perpetual right of way in rear to 104th st."

The north half of the block below 106th st also consists of private dwellings which were built by Perez M. Stewart, they also being 5-sty and basement buildings. At the southeast corner of 109th st and the drive stands the "Bonavista" apartment, occupying two-thirds of the block front on the drive. In 109th st there are more large apartment houses being constructed. The block front, bounded by Cathedral parkway and 111th st, is being improved with a beautiful mammoth apartment abode.

The Columbia Court apartment dwelling adorns the north corner of 115th st. Just off this thoroughfare, in 116th st, more handsome apartment dwellings are being built. There is much vacant land north of here, although there is another large apartment in the course of construction at the south corner of 119th st.

There are two fine private houses just south of 122d st; also a number of beautiful apartment houses opposite the Clairmont Hotel which are now ready for occupancy. One of these, No. 524, is asking a minimum of $15 a room per month.

No. 547 Riverside Drive is situated 224 ft. south of 127th st. It is a 6-sty elevator building and occupies a plot 108x100. This is known as the "Hague." The rents are from $1,250 to $1,800 a year for six and seven rooms, which have every modern improvement. Pease & Elliman are agents.

Abutting on the north are two more choice new houses, somewhat similar, known as the "Montebello" and "Bordeaux," respectively.

In an article on Riverside Drive the Herald recently expressed the opinion that—

A new movement for Riverside Drive is distinctly setting in, and is clearly due to the operation of the Rapid Transit subway north of Cathedral Parkway. The high character of the residential construction on Morningside Heights is now so well determined that the most elegant improvement on the Drive is warranted. At the same time values along the whole extent of the Drive, south as well as north, have been strengthened. Before the subway trains started, the best transit for the section was the elevated road in Columbus av. About fifty per cent. of the dwellings in the Drive were built by speculative builders. At this present season a number are publicly noticed as for sale or to let. Under present circumstances apartment houses are a far better speculation than dwellings, and the bulk of the building on the Drive is likely to be of the palatial apartment type. The first modern improvement on the Drive was in the year 1887, and officially the Drive was opened in 1880. South of 83d st all the buildings are private dwellings, valued at $150,000 to $225,000. Between 100th and 108th sts, Riverside Drive lots are worth $40,000 to $46,000, exclusive of corners, which are considered as worth nearly double.

A large and handsome 13-sty apartment, "Stanley Court," has just been finished in this section at the intersection of West End av. and Broadway. It has a recess in the front—a design which is becoming popular, since it gives light to rooms in the center of the house.

Under the Proposed Tenement Law Amendments.

Edward J. Raldiris, of Stevenson Raldiris & Co., 261 Broadway, has sent out the following query:

Do you know—that the length of outer courts of tenements exceeding four (4) stories in height will be limited to sixty-five (65) feet inclusive of recesses (this cuts down the available length six (6) feet necessitating a loss in the number of rooms on many lots) that where outer courts exceed sixty-five (65) feet, such court must be increased one (1) foot in width for every additional twenty-five (25) feet in length instead of thirty as at present, making a total loss of eleven (11) feet in ninety feet.

that where a lot is on a corner, one street of which has an excessive grade, that the height of buildings will be measured from the lowest level, instead of the street having the greatest grade, causing a loss of a story on many lots on Washington Heights and in the Bronx.

that no more than one apartment can be placed in the basement of any tenement house in the future.

that no room can be more than 15 feet in length in an apartment that does not contain a power elevator, or in other words, the tenement house act provides only for the improvement of high class apartments (with an elevator).

that if these amendments are passed they take effect immediately and you have no redress, for it is too late to form an organization at this time to defeat the passage of the bill which at this writing seems assured.

that there are many other matters just as important in the seventy pages of amendments which would take too much space at this time to discuss.

If you are in favor of forming an association whose object shall be the protection of the Interests of Tenement House Owners and Operators, that those who operate may at least have a word to say as to the forming of laws and not leave it to officials who take upon themselves the formulating of laws without consulting the interest of the people concerned.

Yours respectfully, EDWARD J. RALDIRIS.

Anchorage of Singer Building Tower.

The methods specially designed for anchoring the 45-sty Singer building to its foundations is a new departure in the field of architecture. The present building laws require that the stability of structures be figured upon the assumption of a wind pressure of 30 lbs. per square foot. A wind such as this would in reality be a hurricane sufficient to overturn the ordinary Pullman sleeper, and winds in this locality have never been known to exceed the pressure of 10 lbs. per foot.

The Singer tower is 65 feet square and 612 feet high above the curb. Allowing for this excessive and improbable wind pressure of 30 lbs. per square foot, a force of 330 tons (theoretically) would be exerted by the wind on any single face. The tower weighs 18,365 tons and this is amply sufficient to resist the over-turning "moment" of the wind. But the limitations imposed by the architectural treatment of the building have resulted in a wind bracing system of such design that ten of the thirty-six columns supporting the tower showed an "up-lift," that is, the "dead weight" carried by items is less than the upward pull exerted on them by the wind bracing systems; thus, in one case, the "dead load" on the columns is 279 tons and the "up-lift" 480 tons; therefore, this column and the other nine like it had to be anchored down to the caisson to resist an up-lift of 200 tons.

This was done by embedding several lengths of great eye-bars in the mass of concrete forming the caisson, reaching down to bed rock. These eye-bars are embedded to a depth of 50 feet below the level of the basement floor. These bars were held together by pins about six inchs in diameter and their top lengths fitted under each column with a cast-steel saddle, to which were fastened the lower ends of the sets of four bolts projcting upward out of the concrete. The steel grillage was perforated to allow the anchorage bolts to pass upwards, to be attached to the columns proper. This has never been done before. The special bolts, saddles, eye-bars, pins, etc., were designed by Ernest Flagg, the architect of the building, constructed by Milliken Brothers and installed by the Foundation Company, being buried in their concrete piers during the regular process of constructing the foundations.

The Gargoyles Award Prizes.

Monthly meetings of "The Gargoyles" are held at the Hofbrau Haus, Broadway and 30th st, Manhattan, and the last occasion was an anniversary supper and lecture. Mr. F. A. Burdett, architectural engineer, read a paper on that science. Mr. Walter F. Anderson read a paper on "Specification Writing." Mr. L. C. Holden, architect, was present as the guest of the club, and favored with some words of advice to young architects.

A competition for a design of a small public telephone station and electrolier in a city square was awarded by vote, after criticism by Mr. Arnold W. Brunner, to Mr. W. L. T. Armstrong, who received as his reward a candelabra donated by Mr. Julius Loeste, sculptor.

There was a large collection of sketches of picturesque New York hung on the walls, which made the room somewhat resemble a picture exhibition, there being water-colors, pastels, pen and ink, and pencil sketches in abundance.

The officers of "The Gargoyles" for 1907 are, namely:

Henry C. Van Cleef, president, 220 Broadway, New York; Edwin H. Rosengarten, vice-president, 1133 Broadway, New York; Walter F. Anderson, corresponding secretary, 20 West 43d st, New York; Alfred M. Hedley, recording secretary, 1123 Broadway, New York; William J. Blackburn, treasurer, 1123 Broadway, New York; William T. L. Armstrong, committee, 33 East 17th st, New York; Edward L. Howell, committee, 347 Madison av, New York; Charles F. Winkelman, committee, 1133 Broadway, New York. Current Work Committee—W. T. L. Armstrong, chairman; Charles H. Rosefield, Julius Loester. Entertainment Committee—Edward L. Howell, chairman; F. A. Burdett, A. T. Rose. Job Committee—Charles F. Winkelman, chairman; Edgar A. Josselyn, Pierre Laird.

Product and Appliance.

The Kahn System.

Coincident with the remarkable development of reinforced concrete and emphasizing the vitality and strength of that development, there have appeared throughout the country manufacturing plants, and other structures, built along strictly modern lines and possessing features hitherto deemed impracticable in factory, or general, building construction. These structures are as substantial as though carved out of solid stone, are monolithic in type, fireproof and possess the granite-like qualities of concrete united with the elasticity of steel.

In this development the Kahn system of reinforced concrete plays a leading part, not only by virtue of the thorough and aggressive organization behind it, but because of the reinforcing efficiency furnished by the patented Kahn trussed bar. An exceptionally handsome book pictures and describes the construction of a factory at Buffalo for the Geo. N. Pierce Company. This is "the factory behind the great Arrow car." The book tells how the Trussed Concrete Steel Co. of Detroit set to work and set up the various buildings composing it, that forty train loads of material went into the building of the Pierce plant; that this material had to be collected from various parts of the country without delay; that an army of men, numbering at various times from 500 to 1,000, had to be organized; that the completed buildings have over 325,000 sq. ft. of floor space, and show in their construction many hitherto unattempted features in reinforced concrete work.

Asbestos Wood.

Patents have been granted to Prof. Charles L. Norton, of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, for a non-inflammable substitute for wood, called asbestos wood. It is to be manufactured by the Asbestos Wood Company of Boston. By Professor Norton's process, short asbestos fibres, which heretofore have had no commercial value, may be utilized in producing a fire-retarding material to supply the demand for a material of that character. Asbestos wood can be worked the same as natural wood and with the same tools.

The fire wall or curtain that protects the opening in the proscenium arch of the new Lincoln Square Theater, New York City, is raised and lowered by an approved type of windlass or hoisting engine built by the Otis Elevator Company, and operated by electricity. The curtain is stopped automatically at the two extremes of travel. There is an emergency device which consists of a dash-pot containing a piston head that is caused to travel by means of a screw shaft rotated by gearing connected with the hoisting drum.

Rockland-Rockport Lime Co. has added a new steel seagoing barge to its fleet. This being the seventh, it is called No. 7. The barges carry lime between Rockland and Rockport, Maine, and this port, being towed by the company's own tug. On Newtown Creek the company has two large warehouses—one at Greenpoint av and the other at Meserole and Morgan avs.

The automatic fire doors recently installed in the freight elevators of the two new factories of the Bush Terminal Co., Brooklyn, have attracted much attention on account of their unique automatic action and other advantages, including absolute protection against fire. Many other installations of the "Peelle" Fire Door have been made in New York and other cities.

A. D. Granger Co. announces a change in its New York office to rooms 1518-19-20 West Street Building. The company still handles products of the Skinner Engine Co., of Erie; Oswego Boiler & Engine Co., Harrisburgh Mfg. & Boiler Co., Union Iron Works, of Erie, Bates Machine Co., of Joliet, Frost Mfg. Co., of Galesburg, Ill.

The Kaaterskill Paving Brick Co., of Catskill, N. Y., will engage in the manufacture of sewer brick, in addition to other lines.

REAL ESTATE RECORDS

Key to abbreviations:

1st.—Q. C. is an abbreviation for Quit Claim deed, i. e., a deed wherein all the right, title and interest of the grantor is conveyed, omitting all covenants and warranty.

2d.—C. a. G. means a deed containing Covenant against Grantor only, in which he covenants that he hath not done any act whereby the estate conveyed may be impeached, charged or encumbered.

3d.—B. & S. is an abbreviation for Bargain and Sale deed, wherein, although the seller makes no expressed consideration, and thus impliedly claims to be the owner of it.

4th.—The street and avenue numbers given in these lists are, in all cases, taken from the insurance maps when they are not mentioned in the deeds. The numbers, it will occasionally be found, do not correspond with the existing ones, owing to there having been no official designation made of them by the Department of Public Works.

5th.—The first date is the date the deed was drawn. The second date is the date of filing same. When both dates are the same, only one is given.

6th.—The figures in each conveyance, thus, 2:482—10, denote that the property mentioned is in section 2, block 482, lot 10.

7th.—It should also be noted in section and block numbers that the instrument as filed is strictly followed.

8th.—A $20.000—$30,000 indicates the assessed value of the property, the first figures being for the lot only, and the second figures representing both lot and building. Letter P before second figure indicates that the property is assessed as in course of construction. Valuations are from the assessment roll of 1906.

THIS week's stock market has been a repetition of the last—which is to say dull, irregular and uncertain. The technical position of the market is not a bad one, however, and there has been some improvement in investment conditions. The showing of the United States Steel Corporation was highly satisfactory. It earned 6 per cent. on its common stock, but the directors preferring to be conservative, continue the payment for the time, at least, of but 2 per cent. dividend per annum on this stock. With a surplus of $100,000,000 and all new construction being paid for out of earnings, the Steel Corporation should be on a solid basis. Some of those who bought the common stock in the expectation that there would be an increased dividend, sold their stock, which was quickly absorbed, indicating that there is still a large short interest in this issue. From all quarters, where the manufacture of steel is an important industry, comes the news that the demand for steel rails and structural steel will exceed the amount that the mills can supply, a fact which should interest real estate operators and builders. Other matters which have undoubtedly had their effect on the stock market this week are the advance in wheat, the official announcement of the Atchison $26,000,000 bond issue and an increase in the earnings of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company. Copper metal also advanced sharply in London, selling at one time $20 a ton above the closing of Wednesday. This accounted for the comparative strength of the copper stocks. As to the announcement of the Atchison issue of 5 per cent. convertible bonds it was not looked upon with favor because of the high rate of interest, which made subordinate the Atchison 4s already on the market. Neither was the advance in the price of wheat encouraging for stocks of the Western roads. It was said that the government estimates on May 10 would show the condition of winter wheat many points below the ten-year average. Just at this season it must be borne in mind that experts and Western interests, sometimes with little or no justification, always disseminate news of this character for reasons that are too obvious. In the meantime the public fights shy of the stock market. There was nothing specially significant in the advance of money rates. It is considered by bankers generally that the money market fluctuations will remain within narrow limits until about the time it will be necessary to begin preparations for the unprecedentedly large dividends and interest disbursements in July.

THE RECORD AND GUIDE is surprised to observe that the outcome of the recent bidding for new subway routes is regarded as a practical condemnation of the amendments to the Rapid Transit Act, known as the Elsberg law. It seems, on the contrary, perfectly obvious that the bidding, unsuccessful as it was, was a triumph for those people, who have been contending that the city could get very much better terms for the subways than the old law permitted. It is true that the Interborough Company refused to bid; but it would have been ready to bid, either in case the terms of the contract had been made somewhat easier (as they could have been under the law) or in case a combination of circumstances had not conspired to increase the cost of constructing and equipping new subways. Even as it is the Interborough Company is ready to build an extension south on the West Side and one north on the East Side, at cost, and operate them for twenty years, provided only the city guarantees the company against loss; and surely the city has every reason and advantage to sign a contract under those terms. Such an arrangement would have many of the advantages of municipal ownership, with none of its disadvantages except a possible liability to loss; and such a liability could be cheerfully assumed, considering the certain gains which would accrue from not alienating the subway for more than twenty years. It is safe to say that some means would be found for entering into such a contract, were it not for the Public Utilities bill now pending in the Legislature. It is this bill, and not the Elsberg amendments, which stands in the way of the early signature of a contract with the Interborough Company; and such a contract, if signed, would be relatively as advantageous to the City of New York as the arrangement which Chicago has recently made with its surface railroad companies. On the other hand, in case the Public Utilities bill passes in substantially its present form, the people of Manhattan and the Bronx must reconcile themselves to a delay of some years in the construction of new subways. The make-up of the new Commission is, of course, an unknown quantity. It will take a couple of years to lay out new routes; and after they are laid out there is no assurance that the Board of Estimate will accept them. On the contrary, it is probable that the Commission and the local Board will squabble both about the course of the routes, the terms of the contract and the necessary financial arrangements. With such a threat as that of the proposed new Commission hanging over their heads, the Record and Guide does not wonder that managers of the Interborough Company are loth to increase their local responsibilities.

IF the Public Utilities bill does pass the whole matter of additional rapid transit will have to be delayed, and the only question which can be discussed now with any advantage is what the city ought to do in case the Public Utilities bill does not pass. In this connection it is very much to be regretted that Mr. Chas. Stewart Smith, one of the ablest and most public-spirited members of the Rapid Transit Commission, is opposed to any agreement with the Interborough Company such as that suggested in Mr. Shonts' letter. His reasons are that the latter's proposal is practically municipal ownership, and that in any case the city cannot afford to borrow $60,000,000 during the next four years for this purpose. The first of these reasons has no force against the advantages of the proposed contract. The city has everything to gain by such an arrangement, and in comparison little or nothing to lose. It would be municipal ownership, but not municipal operation; and municipal operation is the alternative to be avoided. As to the strain which the expenditure of $60,000,000 would place upon the city's borrowing capacity, that obstacle is not insuperable. In the estimate recently made of the city's necessities during the next five years, which called for the expenditure approximately of $200,000,000, an appropriation of $40,000,000 was made for new subways, and the other $20,000,000 could be provided either by economies in other directions or by a small and uniformly distributed increase in the assessed valuation of real estate, which would augment the borrowing capacity without enlarging the tax bills. Surely the matter of better transit for Manhattan and the Bronx is of sufficient importance to justify somewhat forcible measures. Although the population of Manhattan is not increasing so fast as that of other boroughs, its traffic is increasing in a still larger proportion, and something must be done to provide for the increase. Both of the alternatives to the acceptance of Mr. Shonts' offer are inadmissible. The first of these—a policy of inaction and delay—would have a disastrous effect upon the prosperity of certain parts of the city and the convenience of all of its inhabitants. The second, which is proposed by Mr. Smith, consists in the repeal of the Elsberg amendments, which would mean that the Interborough Company would construct the subways with its own money in return for a lease of fifty years. But no repeal of these amendments could be hurried through the Legislature, and what is more, public opinion does not want them repealed. Such a repeal would be tantamount to a gift to the Interborough Company of over $35,000,000, which might just as well be saved to the people of New York City. No sensible man begrudges Mr. Belmont his profit on the existing subway, but to offer him any corresponding profit on future subways would constitute a criminal waste of the public resources. When we remember that the passenger traffic in New York doubles in ten years, it may be guessed what a source of revenue such a lease would eventually be. If the Public Utilities bill is not enacted, the people of New York will expect Mayor McClellan to find some method of entering into an arrangement with the Interborough Co., such as that proposed in its president's letter.

U. S. Realty Building.

CARRIES THE WORLD'S RECORD FOR RAPIDITY OF CONSTRUCTION.

Two of the handsomest office buildings in New York are the Trinity and United States Realty. Both were designed by Francis H. Kimball, and each is Gothic in style of architecture—and of massive proportions. The foundations of the Trinity Building were built early in 1904, on a lot 41x260 ft., and the building itself was completed about the close of 1905. In July, 1906, an agreement was reached between the United States Realty Co. and the City, which permitted the moving of Thames st, from Broadway to Temple st, north about 27½ ft., and Temple st, from Thames to Cedar sts, was eliminated from the map. Owing to this concession it was possible to build the addition to Trinity, making one complete structure extending north from Trinity church-yard to the new location of Thames st. In order to obviate the construction of a new line of caissons, connections were made with the columns forming the northern exterior wall of the original building. When the southern section of Trinity was constructed, in 1904, these columns and caissons were designed with the idea of making them a part of one large building to occupy a frontage of about 68 ft. on Broadway and 260 ft. in Thames st. The U. S.

Fig. 1. Making Ready for Laying Foundations of the U. S. Realty Building. May, 1906.

Realty, 115 Broadway, occupies the lot from Thames st to Cedar, and Broadway to Temple st, about 275 ft. 7 ins. along Cedar st and 61 ft. along Broadway. The foundations for this building, consisting of seventy pneumatic caissons, were commenced in June, 1906, and finished in August of the same year, caissons being sunk in sixty days, including the seventeen caissions in the foundations of the addition to Trinity.

Bedrock was reached at 75 ft. below the curb and the whole foundation work was ready for the steel construction early in October. Five hundred was the average number of men employed in the foundation work, which was practically completed in sixty days, an unparalled achievement. Computation of the load-bearing capacity of the caissons gives about 900 tons each or over 60,000 tons for U. S. Realty after a factor of safety is allowed, but the engineers of the Foundation Co. are of opinion that the foundation is equal to twenty-five per cent. greater strain.

Purdy & Henderson, the engineers, designed the steel construction and the Carnegie Steel Company supplied the steel. The erection of the steel girders and beams commenced October 26, and was completed January 28. The stone used on the construction is Indiana limestone above the basement, supplied by Wm. Bradley & Son. The basement story is of Fox Island granite supplied by the John Peirce Company. Stone-setting commenced November 23, and in spite of severe weather, causing the men to lose many days, it was completed by April 18. The weight of the Bedford limestone used in the U. S. Realty Building approximated 15,500 tons, and the granite 750 tons. In the addition to the Trinity Building 7,000 tons of limestone was used and 375 tons of granite.

The trim was commenced by the Batavia Woodworkig Company on March 15 and finished up to the twentieth floor ready for tenants in forty-five days, or April 30 last.

One of the most striking features observed upon entering the building is the Sienna Marble and white statuary marble on the walls of the main hall. All this beautiful marble was specially imported from Italy for this building, yet the contractors, J. H. Shipway & Bro., were able to install it in place in the time agreed upon. Some of the elevators are already running, and the electric fittings are rapidly being put in place.

The contractor, the Geo. A. Fuller Company, will have every part of the work, internally as well as externally, completed in a very few days. The cost of the U. S. Realty Building, including the land, was seven and one-half million dollars, and the rents when all the space is occupied will amount to $750,000 per annum. The total rental area of the building covers

Fig. 2. Foundations of U. S. Realty and Trinity Addition Complete. Preparing for the Structural Steel. September 7, 1906.

260,000 sq. ft.; renting area per floor, 11,500 to 13,600. The average rental price per square foot is $2.75 in U. S. Realty, while it is $3 in the Trinity. Space on the ground floor of U. S. Realty Building is $10 per square foot. About seventy per cent. of the space is already rented, and the tenants who moved in on Wednesday last included four bankers, thirteen attorneys, besides brokers, engineers and trust and other companies. The ground floor of the U. S. Realty Building is taken by the Carnegie Trust Company and the newly organized National Copper Bank. The safety vaults for these companies in the basement cost $500,000.

Building Code Revision

A PUBLIC hearing for those interested in the building trades will be held by the Building Code Revision Commission in the Chamber of the Board of Aldermen, City Hall, Wednesday, May 8, at 2 o'clock, for the purpose of securing as wide a range of ideas as possible in respect to what changes should be made in the Building Code. It is hoped there will be a large attendance of representative men and a sufficient expression of reasonable opinions.

Since the time when the existing Building Code was adopted, which was in December, 1899, the City Charter has been revised and the Department of Buildings abolished. Bureaus of Buildings have since been established in its stead, one in each borough, and five Superintendents of Buildings instead of the three previous Commissioners of Buildings. The flight of years and the progress of events have also made necessary other changes. Hence:

(1) The existing code needs to be revised so that its text will conform to existing circumstances in the municipal government.

(2) Subsequent to the adoption of the building code of 1899 the tenement house law was enacted. Therefore, parts of the code conflicting with the law need to be eliminated. Some authorities contend that a distinction between an apartment house and a tenement house should be made. Further, during the past year the question has been informally raised whether it is necessary to continue the tenement house department, inasmuch as the reformatory work for which it was created has been performed. Organized real estate owners and architects have raised this point, and the Chairman of the Board of Examiners in a public letter has recommended the abolition of the department. While a consideration of the tenement house law is beyond the province of the Building Code Revision Commission, a separate recommendation from the body, either for or against, would have weight.

(3) The fire limits need to be extended. Chief Croker of the Fire Department says there is urgent necessity for revision under this head.

(4) The code must be made to take cognizance of concrete and reinforced concrete construction in a separate section or sections. Construction failures of reinforced concrete are not localized to the United States. Germany, Austria and Switzerland have had fairly regular failures, from mere floor failures to the collapse of heavy roof-girder construction. Poor cement, poor design and poor execution have all played their part as causes. The view is held abroad, as well as in this country, that the root of the trouble is the nonexistence of standard or authoritative specifications for both design and construction. We have here in New York a good basis to start with, consisting of a series of regulations formulated by the Manhattan Bureau of Buildings during the administration of Superintendent Isaac A. Hopper, by his chief engineer, Mr. Rudolph P. Miller, who is a member of the present commission. Doubtless the standards fixed by the new code will be accepted and followed the world over.

(5) Since the code was published amendments have been made from tite to time. These need to be incorporated into the text of the code in their proper places.

(6) The section relating to theatres, together with the amending laws, needs revision. No more severe comment has been heard for any part of the existing building laws than that relating to theatres and places of amusement. The question to be answered is, are the severe requirements entirely justified?

(7) Fireproof wood—shall it be compulsory any longer to use it in buildings exceeding a certain height? Public opinion has decided emphatically in the negative, and the highest authorities have concurred in that opinion. Let those use the material that want to, but take away the compulsion. The passing of an ordinance eliminating the fireproof wood clause by the Board of Aldermen precipitated the revision of the whole code. Mayor McClellan wisely decided that the time had come to undertake this work.

(8) Electrical discoveries and innovations need to be comprehended within a series of regulations. We take light, power and heat for buildings from electricity.

(9) Some fundamental law should be passed regarding the height of buildings. Because, if this board of revision does not take up the subject the Board of Aldermen probably will, actuated by ephemeral impulses or temporary motives. It would be better to have some stipulation in the code. There is a strong belief in architectural and other circles that there should be a definite limitation. Interlaced with this problem is the congested condition of our streets. If every building is to scrape the sky, and each provide room for a thousand or more workers, how will the traffic lines and the sidewalks accommodate all the people? A limitation in the height of buildings would spread office and business buildings over a wider territory and make the public more comfortable. (See article in the Record and Guide of March 16, 1907, by William O. Ludlow, of Ludlow & Valentine, architects.) It would seem to be within the power of the Revision Commission to enact regulations that would have the effect of distributing the business people of the city, and, in fact, the whole population, over a wider area, if it should be deemed wise so to do.

(10) Architects and engineers have said that section 31, which deals with the thickness of walls, is an illustration of requirements which have become antiquated. The provisions are made to apply from the bottom of the wall up, when according to the critics they should regulate the thickness from the top down. Section 59, dealing with wood beams, also requires, according to modern views, a great waste of material. The provision was framed when wood beams were practically the only kind in use. Where wood is used to-day much lighter and less expensive material could be used, the builders say, with safety.

The present Building Law is the result of many years of continuous labor by competent and experienced men. We have before us a long list of names (headed by the name of the Hon. William J. Fryer), of those who have taken an active part in the several revisions of the law. Each of these is favorably known personally or by reputation to every intelligent New Yorker. The code represented the best brains of its day, and long stood as a model for other cities, not only in this country, but throughout the world.

Opposition to the Tenement Law Amendments.

Much feeling is being exhibited against the bill lately introduced to revise the Tenement House law from beginning to end, especially as the real estate and owners' societies had been led to expect a conference in advance of the introduction of the bill, which was finally introduced without having first learned their views, owing to the short time remaining after Deputy Comm'r Darwin had finished the work of revision. There being no time for a legislative hearing, a petition has been forwarded to the Legislature, which, after protesting against the manner of introduction, requests that the bill be not enacted. One of the reasons against enacting the amendments is thus stated:

The constant and extensive changes to the laws relating to real estate interests in this city and the repealing of provisions thereof which have already been complied with involve an uncertainty as to requirements of the law and the duties and obligations of owners, and have a tendency to unsettle and seriously affect values of real estate, so that this form of investment of savings is accordingly becoming undesirable to most of the present owners of real estate and causing such ownership to be transferred to speculators.

As a set-off against the absolute authority of the Department, a bill prepared by Ira J. Ettinger, of 99 Nassau st, provides for a commission on appeal that shall have power to pass upon any question relative to the mode, manner of construction or materials to be used in the alteration of any tenement now existing.

AN OPINION FROM THE BENCH.

A case containing an example of the hardships of the law came before Judge John M. Tierney, of the Municipal Court, Second District, Manhattan, last week, in a suit for infliction of a penalty by the Tenement House Department. No member of the bar is better acquainted with the building laws than Judge Tierney, and for several years he was an Asst. Corporation Counsel in the Building Department. In this particular case the defendant built a tenement house at considerable expense. He obtained a certificate from the Bureau of Buildings that it conformed structurally to the requirements for such buildings. Ten days afterward he commenced to occupy it, although the further certificate from the Tenement House Commissioner had not yet been issued. It appears that some inconsiderable violations of law were claimed to exist, but none of a character or importance sufficient to justify withholding a certificate, which was, in fact, afterwards issued, without the removal of these violations. Judge Tierney, in his written opinion, then says:

The defendant's building was completed on December 2 last in substantial compliance with law, and had it been inspected on that day by the Commissioner a certificate would undoubtedly have been immediately issued. The law was passed to prevent people who build in violation of its provisions from using their property as though they had complied with the law, not to keep a builder who had honestly complied with the law from enjoying the use of his property until after some period of probation. To accomplish this, however, there must be a necessary interval between the completion of each building and the determination by the Commissioner of whether it complies with the law, within which the machinery of his department may have an opportunity to act. This is a hardship upon the owner in suspending his right of enjoyment which should be minimized in practice to every possible extent.

It has not been the custom in this city to exact penalties for technical violations of such laws as this where there has been no offense against the purpose of the act and the violation has been removed before the time of trial. To insist upon the letter of the law is not only unjust in serving no useful purpose towards the accomplishment of its real purpose, but also furnishes a means of oppression through the ill-will, incompetence or even dishonesty of any employee of a large department whose numerous agents cannot, necessarily, share the high character and intentions of the head.

These considerations, however, must appeal to those charged with the enforcement of the law or to the Legislature which vests them with this power. To the court, where a case is brought before it for determination and the city's representatives insist upon an enforcement of the strictly legal rights, no course is left but to decide the facts and render judgment accordingly. With great reluctance, I am forced to find that there was technically a violation of the law by the defendant and that the plaintiff is entitled to recover the penalty prescribed. I have no latitude in passing upon the matter.

Dated the 26th day of April, 1907.

CHAIRMAN FRYER TO UNITED REAL ESTATE OWNERS.

At a mass meeting under the auspices of the United R. E. Owners' Association, a letter from Mr. William J. Fryer, Chairman of the Board of Examiners, was read, which said in part:

"It is your duty to oppose the passage of the pending bill, but I greatly fear that we must face the inevitable, for newspaper sentiment has not yet reached a proper understanding of what is to the best interest of the poor man and what is to the best interest of this city. If your opposition fails, then a bolder stand should be assumed. The Tenement House Department should be wiped out. There is no good reason for its existence at all. The Bureaus of Buildings could just as well administer the tenement house act and at a small percentage of the enormous yearly sum expended by the tenement house department. A distinction between an apartment house and a tenement house should be made and it can be made—and it has been made in the Model Code of the National Board of Fire Underwriters, recently published. The constant harassing of those who own real property and who erect buildings that permanently add to the tax income of this city should cease. The United Real Estate Owners' Association, above all other associated bodies of men, can best undertake this work; and may every effort made by it in that direction be crowned with success."

THE REALM OF BUILDING

Points on the Material Market.

Lath has slipped down to $3.85.

All Masons' Materials are reasonable in price this spring.

The Cement market is strong, but the moderate quotations are unchanged.

The linseed oil market remains dull and uninteresting because of the absence of large buyers, who are waiting for lower prices.

There was considerable more activity in the machinery trade the past week, both orders and inquiries coming in in greater volume. A few weeks ago a slackening up of inquiries was noted.

The sales of the compressor department of the Chicago Pneumatic Tool Company for April were the largest of any month in the history of the company, and May business bids fair to exceed the record month.

The market on Copper Products is said to be practically at a standstill, buyers hesitating to purchase at present prices on account of evidence of weakness in quotations on Copper metal. Sellers, however, do not show a disposition to make concessions in prices.

There has been a decided increase in the demand for parts of Machinery from machine tool makers and engine builders of late, and many shops now rushed with orders are obliged to turn their attention to getting out parts for repairs for machinery that are needed for immediate use. A representative of a prominent company which builds engines and other equipment states that this unusual demand is due to the fact that nearly every manufacturer in the country has been using equipment overtime, and in some cases machines have been in almost constant use night and day for the last year.

Operators' Profits.

Large returns have been earned by operators using their own capital—and are still being earned. The Times ascertains that those engaged in purchasing old properties and reimproving them with new buildings, are safely turning their capital over at from 25 to 50 per cent. profit annually:

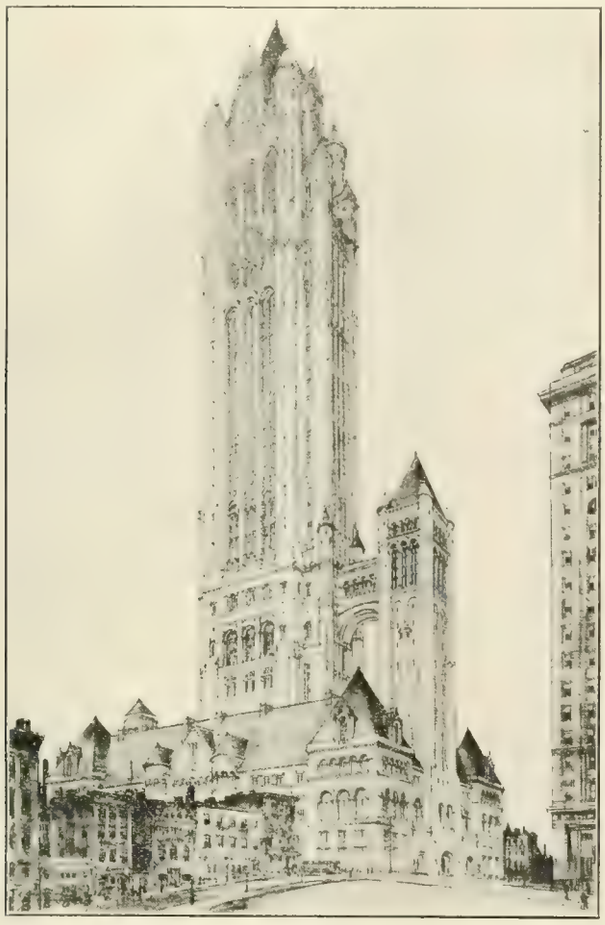
Individuals, firms, and companies there are who are engaged in building operations for the market, using their own capital and buying land and building materials at first hand, who count a profit of 25 per cent. on any operation a very low one.

This accords with a report that a certain building company, which sells a type of dwelling for $8,000, nets after allowing $1,400 for the site (two lots), $3,100 for the builder, and $1,000 to the salesman, a profit of $2,500. But this quality of velvet does not last forever. Felix Isman maintains that real estate values do not rise gradually but suddenly, and probably operators' profits come in similar fashion.

Brick Buildings in the Bronx.

Low prices of common brick are stimulating Bronx builders to arrange for small house construction, of which the borough is in great need.

During the first three months of this year plans for 116 brick dwellings, to cost $815,500, were filed in the Bronx, as compared with only 29, estimated to cost $252,900, during the first quarter of 1906.



And in the month of April just past plans for 206 buildings, the estimated cost of which was placed at $2,732,470, were filed in the Bronx. During April, 1906, 271 plans, representing an outlay of $3,032,465, were recorded with the Borough Building Department. This indicates a falling off of 65 buildings and $299,995 in the estimated outlay last month as compared with the corresponding month a year ago. During April this year 68 alteration plans, involving an outlay of $64,950, were approved by the borough authorities. During the corresponding month of April, 1906, 82 alterations, costing $124,730, were approved.

Eight Elevator Apartments for St. Nicholas Terrace.

ST. NICHOLAS TERRACE.—Messrs. Sonn Bros., No. 149 Church st, are about to improve the entire block bounded by St. Nicholas Terrace, 129th, 130th sts and Convent avs. The plot measures 216 ft. on the avenue and 585 ft. on the streets. The scheme calls for a group of eight large elevator apartment houses, each 100x130 ft., with 25-ft. gardens between each house. All courts will face the street, considerably wider than required by law; the generous provisions for light and air throughout being a marked feature of the plan. Fire escapes will be eliminated by the use of interior fireproof stairways, so as not to mar the appearance of the buildings. A large central power station will be built with boilers and dynamos to supply light, power and heat. All service will be through private alleys in the rear of buildings. The facades and plans will show the entire scheme to be one of the largest improvements of its kind. The location is enhanced in having the park of the Convent of Sacred Heart on the north side and in overlooking St. Nicholas Park on the east. The estimated cost of the work will exceed $1,300,000. Messrs. Rouse & Sloan, 11 East 43d st, are the architects. The two houses on St. Nicholas av front will be built first.

Palmer & Hornbostel Plan 700-Foot Tower.

Messrs. Palmer and Hornbostel, No. 63 William st, Manhattan, and J. Maurice Trimble, of Pittsburg, Pa., associate architects, have prepared plans for a proposed 700-ft. tower building for the city of Pittsburg, to cost, exclusive of site, two million dollars. If built, it will be the highest building occupied for business purposes in the world. The gigantic structure is planned to be placed in the center of the Allegheny County Court House, and to rise to a height of 700 ft. by 90 ft. square. No change will be made in the present court house, except as to the 90x120-ft. areaway in the center, over which the steelwork will come. The building, which is considered among the finest pieces of architecture in the United States, will be much more impressive with the new addition, it being the intention of the architects to use thirty-five stories of the new structure for courts, so that the whole of the present edifice can be used for offices. The main tower would be connected with the present one by a bridge. The rotunda would be 70x70 ft sq. and 90 ft. high. The architects claim the improvements could be completed in eighteen months. The new tower would give twice as much floor space as the present building, with a total of 125,000 sq. ft., the court rooms being 26 ft. high. The Metropolitan Life tower, which will be Manhattan's highest, will rise 690½ ft. from the foundations to top, the highest point of observation being 633 ft. The second highest of New York's buildings will be the tower of the Singer building, at Broadway and Liberty st, 593 ft. The Washington Monument is 555 ft., the Philadelphia City Hall 547, the Cologne Cathedral 515, the Pyramid of Cheops 486, the Antwerp Cathedral 476, the Strasburg Cathedral 474. The third highest building in New York is the West Street building, 404 ft.; the Park Row building is 382 ft.

Plans for Brooklyn Municipal Building.

JORALEMON ST.—Plans for the Brooklyn Municipal Building have been completed, and it is expected that bids for building the foundation will be advertised next month. The first half of the building will cost $3,000,000, of which sum $500,000 has been appropriated. It will take about one year to erect half of the building. The section will probably not be built for two years, during which the Polytechnic Institute will continue to occupy its old building. Request for $2,500,000 will be made to the Board of Estimate in the next few weeks. Ground dimensions are 260x300, and ten stories. The exterior material will be either granite or white marble. The treatment of the exterior is of a simple, massive character. The Doric colonnade, with great arches between the columns, forms the two lower stories of the building; surmounting this is a series of classic pedimented windows, which light the great court rooms of the third story. Above this story a simple treatment of piers, with ample window spaces between, is carried up to the main cornice, which is surmounted by a simple attic story which recedes somewhat from the line of the outside walls. One of the features of the completed building will be a great corridor extending from Joralemon st through to Livingston st, upon either side of which two great staircases will communicate with the court room floor, thus providing easy means of exit for the crowds assembled at times in this portion of the building. Twelve elevators and four secondary staircases are divided into four groups of three elevators each, and are situated in the main entrance lobbies, adjoining Joralemon and Livingston sts.

Plans Out for the Harkness Mansion.

5TH AV.—Hale & Rogers, 11 East 24th st, are taking figures on general contract for the Harkness mansion, to be built on 5th av, northeast corner 75th st, and to cost in the neighborhood of $500,000. There will be a passenger and service elevator, marble and wroughtiron work, and elaborate interior decorations. Mr. Edward S. Harkness has an office at No. 26 Broadway. (Official announcement was given issue Feb. 9, 1907.) It will be recalled that Charles Steele, of the firm of J. Pierpont Morgan & Co., will also soon begin the erection of a magnificent residence at the northeast corner of 5th av and 92d st, for which Architect C. P. H. The plot measures 60x100 ft., and this will complete the improvement of the block bounded by Riverside drive, Broadway, 107th and 108th sts. Mr. Schinasi purchased the site from S. G. Bayne, president of the Seaboard National Bank, in December, 1906. The new structure will be fireproof, 4-stys, with a high pitched roof, of French Gothic design. The exterior will be of gray limestone on the four sides. (See issue Dec. 22, 1906.) On Riverside drive, the southeast corner of 105th st, on plot 80x100 ft., the Hon. William Randolph Hearst will erect a dwelling for his own occupancy, but no building contracts have yet been placed. Messrs. Kirby, Petit & Green, 35 West 31st st, will probably be the architects. PRIVATE SALES MARKET

Late trading was in keeping with the increased activity which has characterized the week. Among the larger transactions the sale of the northwest corner of Nassau and John sts at a figure approaching $2,000,000 was the most important. On lower 5th av the resale of southwest corner of 11th st is interesting, since it is announced that the purchase was made to assist in preserving the old residential character of that locality. Upper Harlem contributed a large sale of flats not yet completed, and dealings on Washington Heights furnished additional proof that the professional operator has not yet abandoned that field. In the Bronx, besides the resale of a large Jerome av tract, there was much buying of vacant lots for immediate improvement. Based upon the success of many of the smaller undertakings, builders are making preparations to erect rows of 2-family houses, for which they believe there is a ready market. The total number of private sales reported is 163, of which 46 were below 59th st, 72 north and 45 in the Bronx.

As an effect of the success of the Ogden sale the owner of a large and well-known estate in the East Bronx is now seriously considering the advisability of selling it at auction.

Harry J. B. Young, of the firm of Young & Gibbons, was the buyer of the Granite Court, north east corner of 116th st and Morningside av, two 6-sty elevator apartments, 100x100.11.

E. Louis Jacobs announces that he has changed his law office from the Potter Building to 150 Nassau st. Mr. Jacobs recently organized a special department for procuring and managing real estate investments.

In commenting on the Ogden sale, R. E. Simon, of Henry Morgenthau Co., 20 Nassau st, Manhattan, said that the results fully demonstrated the confidence of the public in Bronx realty as a lucrative and sure investment.

Edward N. Crosby, for many years located in the National Bank of Commerce building, has moved to still larger offices on the 10th floor of the same building, and hereafter will be known as Edward N. Crosby & Co., doing a general real estate business, from this date.

Most of the expensive mahogany furniture and fixtures formerly belonging to the Richard V. Harnett Co. found a ready purchaser in the Real Estate Board of Brokers, which secured two atlas cases and two desks. The board also purchased 16 volumes of insurance maps.

Edward L. King, of E. L. King & Co., 10 Wall st, Manhattan, has made an addition to his already large collection of records by the purchase at the Harnett sale of a complete set of auction memoranda from 1873 to date. In all it contains 40 volumes, which were counted among the most valuable assets of the late R. V. Harnett Co., with whom Mr. King was for many years connected.

Business is beginning to invade Lenox av in the vicinity of 116th st. One of the recent alterations was at the southeast corner 115th st, which is owned by Albert E. Lowe. Others are contemplated, and it is now understood that the purchaser of the "Balmoral" will alter the ground floor of that building into stores at an early date. With trade centering in that vicinity a strong influence upon property values is noticed.

Herman L. R. Edgar and Ronald Eliot Curtis announce that they have formed a partnership for the transaction of a general real estate business, with offices at 81 Nassau st and 546 5th av. Mr. Edgar will continue making a specialty of business properties, as well as taking charge of estates, having his headquarters at the downtown office. Mr. Curtis will be at the uptown office and will manage the residence property business and the sale and rental of country property.

E. H. Hess, of M. & L. Hess, 643 Broadway, Manhattan, said that the past rental season for business property had been an active one. All classes of lofts have brought excellent figures. There is practically nothing to rent between 14th and 23d sts and Broadway to 6th av, he said. Mr. Hess particularly pointed out the fact that there is a great scarcity of lofts containing 15,000 sq. ft., and suggested that builders would find the field mentioned a very attractive one for large loft building operations.

Famous Auction Sales.

With the sale of 891 lots for a total of $1,670,675, the auction of the Ogden estate offering came to an end on Monday afternoon. Certain parcels of waterfront property with regard to which there is, according to public announcement, some unsettled boundary questions, were not put under the hammer at this time. The average price per lot was $1,873. Never before were so many lots offered or sold at one continuous sale. The auctioneer attracted by his advertising methods a large crowd of buyers, and he held their attention until the close. Many buyers were from other places. Being situated very attractively at the east end of Washington Bridge and also at the east end of High Bridge, and with the terms of sale only thirty per cent cash, the property appealed forcibly to a large portion of the investing public, for there was an uncounted number of people who would have bought at lower quotations. So many wanted the same parcel that prices were driven high. Nobody gainsays that the auctioneer got all that was coming to him.

One of the attorneys—it was a partition sale—Richard L. Sweezy, when interrogated for the Record & Guide said all the parties in interest were satisfied with the total result. He noticed that but few operators were among the bidders, and that most of the property was sold to buyers of one and two lots. The bidding was unusually active throughout the sale, and twice as many lots were "knocked down" on the last day as on the first. While Mr. Sweezy bid on a few lots for himself, nobody in the Ogden family bought any. Mr. E. Osborn Smith, an active broker in the section, who was a buyer for himself and others, therefore a competent judge of the situation, is of the opinion that the property will be built over quickly, and principally with dwellings, but with apartment houses around Washington Bridge and at other advantageous points. A very general hope is expressed that those who wish to erect dwellings will be encouraged.

Auction sales are important as matters of record, as they furnish a surer index to values than the prices given in private sales. The only journal in New York giving a full record of the Ogden prices is the Record & Guide. The continued list will be found in another part of this number.

The three Dykman sales (1869-1871) inaugurated the movement for breaking up great estates in New York. The Mutual Life Insurance Company's sale on April 20, 1880, distributed nine parcels of improved property and 227 vacant lots for $663,455. The Carman sale on April 6, 1881, dispersed 257 lots on Washington Heights for $67,809. At the "famous" Jumel sale 1,058 lots were sold for $544,830. This auction began on May 31st, 1882, was stopped, then resumed on November 15, and then was continued four days. The Morgenthau sale, which took place May [illegible] disposed of 111 vacant lots on Washington Heights. The property was originally part of the Chesebrough estate, but was bought in 1879 by George Ehret, for $350,000. Governor Morgan purchased it in 1881 for $450,000, and when his estate was settled up this property, which lay along the Kingsbridge road, Amsterdam, Audubon, Wadsworth and 11th avs., 178th to 182nd st, it was secured by Morton & Bliss, for $400,000, and in the early part of 1891 was conveyed to the Washington Heights Improvement Co., of which Henry Morgenthau was the leading spirit. At the Morgenthau sale the property brought $1,494,360. The actual cash investment of Mr. Morgenthau and his associates was $300,000, upon which they realized an advance of over $500,000. The Susan B. Ward partition sale of November 19, 1896, and October 19, 1897, disposed of 238 lots on Washington Heights for a total of $444,250.

New Office Buildings

Half a Dozen in the Financial District Completed and Tenanted on May Day.

THE GREAT "Skyscraper Race" is finished. A year ago some of the gigantic buildings were not even holes in the ground, and on May Day they were tenanted. This is an age of miracles in building construction. Fifteen years ago New York had no steel-skeleton, cloud-capped structures at all, and to-day they are rising all around us—four, five, six hundred feet high—with wonderful rapidity. The foundations of the U. S. Realty Building were commenced only in June, and the steel construction not until October, and the stone setting on November 23. On March 15 workmen started to put in the wood trim, and forty-five days later—on Tuesday of this week—it was finished. The next day tenants began to move in, and the magnificent Gothic edifice is now seventy per cent. occupied, and is assured of being as successful as an investment as its predecessor, the newly enlarged Trinity Building, whose annex was built simultaneously with the U. S. Realty by the same general contractor, the George A. Fuller Company, which in these two constructions has surpassed all previous records for rapidity.

Marvelously expeditious work was also done by Thompson-Starrett Company on the U. S. Express Building, and by John Peirce Company, as general contractor, with the West Street Building. Other giant buildings just completed are the Evening Post, Number One Wall, and the Royal Insurance, at Wall and William. No previous May Day ever saw so many new offices offered to the public for rental.

Of the 100,000 sq. ft. of rentable space in the Royal Insurance Building, 84 William st, 75 per cent. has already been leased. The average rental obtained above the ground floor varies according to location of offices, but official estimate places it at from $1.75 to $2 per sq. ft. The "Royal" has the advantage of being in the centre of the insurance district, and a large portion of its tenants were recruited from the older buildings in that section. Among the most prominent occupants, besides the Royal Ins. Co., are the London Assurance Corp., Queens Ins. Co. of America, National Ins. Co. of Hartford (allied with Fred S. James & Co.), Southern Ins. Co. (represented by Dickson & Tweeddale), Fabre & Mendes, insurance brokers; Samuels, Cornwall & Stevens, insurance; Underwriters Salvage Co., Aachen & Munich Fire Ins. Co., Rossia Ins. Co., Prussian Life Ins. Co., Lumber Ins. Co., Adirondack Ins. Co., American Dyewood Co., A. S. & W. Hutchins (att'ys), John S. Lamson & Bro. (asphaltum), F. Stewart Williamson, consulting engineer; H. H. Camman & Co., real estate; Voorhees & Floyd, real estate; L. D. Garrett, ins. stocks; Ten Broeck, Morse & Co., and others. The task of leasing the offices in the "Royal" has been assigned to J. H. Pearch, an official of the company, who expects to complete the undertaking within a short period.

Cruikshank Co., 141 Broadway, Manhattan, report that 85 per cent. of the rentable space in the 23-story West St. Building has been taken. Judging by the number of engineering, machinery and construction companies that have engaged offices in the building, it bids fair to become a centre for specialists in these lines. The floors bring from $1.50 to $1.90 per sq. ft., according to location. Among the tenants who have secured offices here are D., L. & W. R. R. Co., E. I. Du Pont de Nemours Powder Co., John J. Gilroy, New York Steam Co., Hudson Engineering & Contracting Co., Standard Railway Equipment Co., Curtis-Blaisdell Co., N. Y. Telephone Co., American Woodworking Machinery Co., A. L. Barber Asphalt Co., Davis Acetylene Co., National Electric Lamp Co., Pittsburgh Pneumatic Co., Guarantee Construction Co., The John Peirce Construction Co. and eighty others.

Burton Thompson, the renting agent of No. 1 Wall st, says the renting of that building is proceeding rapidly, notwithstanding the delays in finishing up. A few floors are on a paying basis. A great deal of attention is given to the standing of prospective tenants. Mr. Thompson quotes $4 as being the average price per sq. ft. The third floor of No. 1 Wall st brings $5,000, second floor $7,500, and ground floor and basement $37,500. The largest tenant is United Cigar Stores Co., which has a 10-year lease. Among the rest are Lathrop-Haskins Co., A. G. Edwards & Co., Hinds & Cavanaugh, A. B. Lewis, Trustees Security Co., H. D. Selleck and Burton Thompson.

GOOD SECOND MORTGAGES
PURCHASED AND SOLD

Wm. R. Lowe & Co. moved from 221 West 116th st to 271 West 125th st, in the Bishop Building.

Levy Brothers, real estate brokers and builders, have removed from 253 Grand st to 198 Broadway.

Aaron Coleman, real estate operator, has removed to the Evening Post building, 20 Vesey st, suite 401.

Hugh D. Smyth, real estate auctioneer and broker, formerly of 141 Broadway, has removed his office to 150 Broadway.

Mr. Sheldon B. Shaw, real estate broker, formerly with the late firm of Richard V. Harnett & Co., Inc., has opened offices in the Williamsburg City Fire Insurance Company's building, 150 Broadway, cor. Liberty st.

Broadly speaking, fewer tenants of apartments and stores made changes this week than previously, and according to opinions advanced by real estate agents, this can be attributed to a general satisfaction with present rental conditions, superinduced by prosperous times. The comparatively few removals which are taking place are said to be more in evidence in the upper 8th av section, between 135th and 155th sts, than in any other part of Manhattan.

Alfred V. Amy, of A. V. Amy & Co., 92 St. Nicholas av, in speaking of this district remarked on the small number of changes, saying that they were fewer than usual for this time of year. The fall of the year is now and has been the chief renting season, and the majority of leases date from October 1. Mr. Amy further stated that there is no reduction of rentals in his section and that they are holding up well. At the office of Sam'l V. Braisted, 354 W. 116th st, it was said that in that locality there had been but few changes for May. Brokers report a larger demand for small stores, although there appear to be more vacancies uptown than heretofore.

Rentals have not been changed materially south of 110th st, but on Washington Heights the schedules are more moderate than two years ago, and in some cases reductions have been made to old tenants. Many families have moved to the Hill this spring, but there is still a certain percentage of vacancies in the extreme northern section.

For flats renting under $25 a month every business day in the year has come to be moving day, while for dwellings and large apartment houses October is the month of change. The completing of half a dozen large office buildings in the financial district is causing more shifting of business quarters in that section than in any previous spring for years. Rentals in the district were never better. An unusual number of families are moving over from Brooklyn, for which it is said the bridge crush and inferior transit facilities are responsible.

—Mr. Wright W. Goss, president of the Empire Brick & Supply Company, has returned from a stay of several weeks in the South.

REAL ESTATE RECORDS

Key to abbreviations:

1st.—Q. C. is an abbreviation for Quit Claim deed, i. e., a deed wherein all the right, title and interest of the grantor is conveyed, omitting all covenants and warranty.

2d.—C. a. G. means a deed containing Covenant against Grantor only, in which he covenants that he hath not done any act whereby the estate conveyed may be impeached, charged or encumbered.

3d.—B. & S. is an abbreviation for Bargain and Sale deed, wherein, although the seller makes no expressed consideration, and thus impliedly claims to be the owner of it.

4th.—The street and avenue numbers given in these lists are, in all cases, taken from the insurance maps when they are not mentioned in the deeds. The numbers, it will occasionally be found, do not correspond with the existing ones, owing to there having been no official designation made of them by the Department of Public Works.

5th.—The first date is the date the deed was drawn. The second date is the date of filing same. When both dates are the same, only one is given.

6th.—The figures in each conveyance, thus, 2:482—10, denote that the property mentioned is in section 2, block 482, lot 10.

7th.—It should also be noted in section and block numbers that the instrument as filed is strictly followed.

8th.—A $20,000—$30,000 indicates the assessed value of the property, the first figures being for the lot only, and the second figures representing both lot and building. Letter P before second figure indicates that the property is assessed as in course of construction. Valuations are from the assessment roll of 1906.

MORTGAGES

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given and the amount. The general dates used as headlines are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.

The first date is the date the mortgage was drawn, the second the date of filing; when both dates are the same, only one is given.

Subscribers will find mortgages in this list with the wrong block number attached. The block number we give is taken from the instrument as filed.

Mortgages against Bronx property will be found altogether at the foot of this list.

April 26, 27, 29, 30 and May 1.

MONEY rates, the crops and labor troubles were the factors which have influenced the dull and irregular stock market this week. Wheat has been feverish and the outlook for an average yield is by no means encouraging. There are those who are of opinion that the higher price of wheat is not owing to the prospect of a bad harvest, but that farmers are determined to get better figures for the new crop, and also for what they may have on hand from last season. While Wall Street is said to discount everything, it is doubtful if it is doing so on the crop situation. A sluggish market is anticipated during the whole of May and then should crop prospects be better there may be greater activity. In connection with reports of widespread crop damage, which, of course, affects the prices of railroad stocks, some of the officials of the transportation lines say that they would not regard "the curtailment of the output of grain as a calamity," as many of the railroads have all they can do now and with a bumper crop they could not haul it, therefore they might be compelled "to let it rot or store it." Such a statement may be plausible, but should be accepted only with several large grains of salt. Nevertheless, the business of the country cannot be in a very bad way when the steel, iron equipment and electric companies of the United States now have on their books estimated orders for $1,200,000,000 worth of work, the profits on which will be about $250,000,000. Nothing in the manufacturing history of the country equals this record and yet the fact remains that more money is wanted to finance this prosperity and to improve the railroads. New York Central must go into the market again for new capital. Europe has shown confidence in American railroads, but the full amount required cannot be obtained there. The bulk of the sum must be contributed by our own moneyed men who, in subscribing to new issues of securities in some of these roads, run but a minimum of risk. The enormous amount of operating expenses of the New York Central is the result of paying damages on account of the recent accident in the Bronx. More than a million of dollars is said to have been disbursed already in connection with this disaster. The bears are making the most of the conditions which they believe justify their position, and many Western houses are making themselves conspicuous on that side of the market. Misgivings as to the course of prices do not seem to be shared in to the same extent in London, where American stocks have generally shown encouraging strength though with limited transactions. It is by no means certain that there will be easy money rates throughout the summer though they will depend largely on the rates for sterling exchange. The announcement during the week of the authorization of an additional seventy-five million Union Pacific bonds and thirty-six million Southern Pacific preferred stock was a surprise to the street, and the list sold off in consequence.

THE PLANS for the Guernsey Building at 162-4 Broadway, which is now being displaced by a superior structure for the Lawyers' Title Insurance and Trust Company, were filed in the year 1881 by the architect, Richard M. Hunt. Exclusive of the land, the building cost $200,000. Thus it has required but twenty-five years for a business building of the highest class when erected to become antiquated. Did anyone dream of this then? Surely not, or an edifice less substantial and ornamental would have been erected. This one was put together under the prevailing theory of "iron construction," as then practiced, with no other thought than that it would stand for centuries, as physically it might, but as an income earner it has fallen from the first rank, and the place it occupies can be used to better advantage. Under a continuance of present influences in business, and with no restrictions being imposed as to building height, it is only a question of another quarter century when the lower part of New York will be literally choked with skyscrapers. But the probabilities are that legal restrictions will be imposed without much opposition when the certain consequences begin to appear in untenanted offices and shrinking rent rolls. The year 1881 was an exceptionally favorable time for building, as the city and country were just recovering from one of the periodical depressions that formerly afflicted us, and which the people know better now than to submit to, understanding that the bacilus of fear was more responsible than the germ of financial disease. After one of the periods of fright, extending from 1873 to 1879, and which ended with the resumption of specie payments, building began to strengthen. Recovery was slow at first, the year 1878 showing only fifteen million dollars' worth of work laid out in New York, but in the year in which the plans for the Guernsey Building were filed (1881) the operations of builders amounted to as much as in the previous record year of 1871. Values were no longer speculative, wages and materials were low, while the demand for housing was strong. Bricklayers and masons received eighteen dollars a week, carpenters twelve, marble cutters fifteen, painters fifteen, and tinsmiths and plumbers eighteen. Pine lumber sold for sixty dollars a thousand feet, and natural cement for $1.25 a barrel. The Tribune and the Western Union had the tallest buildings in town, and we note that one of these is at this present time being added to in height. In the same year that the Guernsey edifice was rising other notable works were undertaken: The United Bank, the Mills and Potter buildings, the Produce Exchange, the Welles and the Vanderbilt buildings. Contrast their type with the giants of this year, one costing millions and the other only hundreds of thousands of dollars. What shall we be building in the next quarter century? Look from the Guernsey across the way to where the new City Investing Building and the Singer tower are going up and make a guess.

A BILL has been introduced into the Senate by Senator Allds, providing that whenever a deed is recorded the grantor must deliver to the Recording officer an affidavit declaring the price paid for the property. This affidavit will not, however, be a matter of public record. It shall be given to the Tax Commissioners for the purpose of helping them to determine the assessed value of the property for taxable purposes. The bill is opposed by Mr. Allan Robinson, president of the "Allied Real Estate Interests" on the ground that "there is no reason why dealers in real property should be required to disclose the details of their business and the price of their land than that dealers in any other kind of property should be required to permit their customers to find out at what price they buy and at what price they sell to other customers." Surely this statement on the part of Mr. Robinson is not entirely candid. The purpose of the bill is not to impart information to the public or to the trade respecting the prices at which real estate is sold. Its purpose is to enable the Tax Assessors the better to perform their duty; and inasmuch as under State laws real property is supposed to be assessed at its full value, the State has surely every right to compel a property-owner to supply the necessary information. The practice has become general in New York of concealing the prices at which real estate is purchased, partly in order to cover the tracks of speculators, and partly in order to make it difficult for the deputy assessors to do their work; and if real estate operators use such methods partly for the purpose of evading taxation, the State should be allowed to protect itself. As a matter of fact the State has many reasons for needing a complete record of the prices at which real estate is sold. It has reserved the power of condemning land for public purposes; and when this power is exercised, it should possess records which would diminish the chance of any over-charge. As a matter of fact it is the real estate speculator rather than the real estate investor who profits from the present system of elaborate concealment. It gives a man who deals in real estate all over the city a precise knowledge of current values, which cannot be obtained in any other way. It also increases the value of the private records in a broker's office. But the ordinary investor, like the deputy assessor, has no access to these records, and the consequence is that it is the speculatively active property, which is usually under-assessed. In seeking a complete but private record of real estate prices the State would only be protecting its own legitimate interests and that of the city.

The Assessed Value of Real Estate and Its Real Value.

THE vexed question as to the proper rates which the value of real estate, as assessed for purposes of taxation, should bear to the real value is once more brought up by a letter which Comptroller Metz has addressed to President Lawson Purdy of the Tax Department. Mr. Metz claims that real estate is on the average still very much under-assessed and he supports his claim by a table showing the cost of real estate taken by the city in 1900 under condemnation proceedings and the aggregate assessed value of the same property. The table is so interesting that it is reproduced herewith.

Borough.	Cost to City.	Assessed Valuation.	P. C. of Val. to Cost.
Manhattan.....	$2,979,821.53	$1,700,500.00	.57
Bronx.....	196,177.87	97,775.00	.49
Brooklyn.....	2,136,281.29	595,285.00	.27
Queens.....	354,317.65	195,800.00	.53
Richmond.....	97,250.00	51,600.00	.53

The comptroller is right in declaring that these figures demand a certain amount of explanation. The conclusion which he draws is either that real estate is ridiculously under-assessed and property owners can obtain evidence as to the value of their property out of reach of the tax assessors, or else that the city is swindled by the present methods of condemnation. The comptroller's alternative puts the case rather strongly; but there is some truth in it. Real estate in New York is still under-assessed, but it is not under-assessed as much as Mr. Metz's figures seem to imply. The truth of this statement will become obvious in case one keeps in mind the nature of the value of real property.

A great deal of writing about the value of real estate implies that every parcel has a fixed value, and that this value is determined by the price, which anybody either must or happens to pay. Such, however, is not the case. A man owning a piece of real estate is in the same position as a man who owns one hundred thousand shares of stock in a railway company. If these shares are quoted at 90, the owner of one hundred thousand of them knows perfectly well that he could not offer them immediately for sale without breaking the price far below that figure. On the other hand, he also knows that if another corporation should be seeking to control the road, and his one hundred thousand shares were necessary to that control, they would be worth a good deal more than ninety. The market quotation merely represents a temporary equilibrium between the buying and selling pressure, but it does not constitute the value of a large block of one hundred thousand shares. It is the same way with a piece of real estate. The value of almost every parcel will depend largely upon whether it is owned by a man who is obliged to sell or whether it is owned by a man who does not want to sell, but is besought by an intending purchaser. Thus a man pays, let us say, $150,000 for a lot in some speculative district. If he were suddenly placed in a situation in which he had to sell, he might not get more than $125,000 for it. On the other hand a purchaser who believed in the future of the neighborhood might be persuaded to offer $175,000 for the property. Almost every piece of real estate fluctuates within these limits, and a foolish purchaser who is willing to pay too much does not fix the value any more than the low price obtained at a forced sale. The parcel has in truth no fixed price and any appraiser, however expert, might value it at a figure which would be belied by a sale two weeks later. The official assessors are obliged to make allowance for this fact, and they have every reason to keep the assessed value fifteen or even twenty per cent. below a price which has been actually paid for a piece of property. The city, when it is condemning land, should not be obliged to pay an extortionate price, but it should be obliged to pay the top price—the price which any private purchaser would pay who wanted the property very much.

Even after every allowance is made, however, for the payment of the top price by the city and for a necessarily prudent appraisal by the assessors, the discrepancies between the assessed and the selling values, shown by Mr. Metz's table, are too large. Property in Manhattan shows to the best advantage in the comparison. They were purchased by the city at prices which were five-thirds of the assessed value, and curiously enough this result corresponds to the result of the figures published by the Record and Guide. Every week our tables contain the aggregate assessed value of the parcels sold for expressed considerations compared to the aggregate price which was paid, and the assessed value has averaged for several years with remarkable consistency a little over sixty per cent. of the selling price. This fact justifies the recent statement of the Record and Guide that a uniform increase of real estate assessment amounting to ten per cent. could be spread over the whole borough without any injustice to property-owners, and with the result that the city could borrow the money necessary for a municipal subway system.

But if the assessed value of real estate in Manhattan could be increased ten per cent. the average assessed value of real estate in the other boroughs should be increased not less than twenty per cent. There can be no doubt that for years the owners of real estate in Manhattan have been over-taxed because of the flagrant under-assessment of real estate in the outlying boroughs. Before consolidation the average assessment was proportionately low in Queens, Kings, Richmond and in what were then the Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth Wards of the City of New York; and after consolidation they were never raised to the Manhattan level. The salaries of the policemen and the office-holders of Brooklyn and Queens were immediately raised to the Manhattan level, but the assessed value of real estate was kept down. And this was particularly true of unimproved real estate. The assessors have always discriminated in favor of the owner of vacant land because, poor fellow, he does not obtain any income from his property, whereas by every consideration of public policy he should be assessed at as high a rate as the owner of improved property. Mr. Lawson Purdy holds opinions upon taxation which expressly favor a high level of taxation for unimproved property; and if he can demonstrate to his deputies that real estate, and particularly unimproved real estate, in the outlying boroughs is under-assessed at the present time, he will be doing the whole city a great service.

Business Construction.

An intention to await developments—to "stop, look and listen"—seems to prevail among operators in commercial buildings in the upper business sections of Manhattan. Lofts in new erections have not been taken as quickly as expected, and time will be allowed for them to fill before the movement will be resumed. Agents report that business has improved in this respect within a fortnight. Improved suburban transit is expected to entice heavy manufacturing out of Manhattan, but for light manufacturing and the wholesale and retail trades this borough must always be the center, and in a growing degree. Residential building, on the contrary, must betake itself more and more to distant parts, the direction to be determined by transit facilities. Last year a marked preference for South Brooklyn and New Jersey sites for large works began to manifest itself. These two seem destined to become the largest manufacturing centers outside of Manhattan. The statistics of business construction of the three previous years in each of the boroughs of New York City show an increasing expenditure for business construction in all the boroughs except possibly Queens:

Stores and lofts, office buildings, factories and workshops.
